SLEUTHS SEEK A TOLEDO MAN

Salesman Wanted as Bribery Witness.

A COMBINATION OF LEGISLATORS FOUND

Has Regular Scale of Prices for Measures.

So Much Is Charged for Motion, Another Charge for Recommendation and So Much for Work on Floor of House or Senate—More Information About a "Slush Fund" Is Dug Up by Detectives.

Toledo, O., June 8.—Charles W. Otis, traveling salesman, formerly connected with the American Warming & Ventilating company, is wanted by Prosecutor Turner, of Franklin county, as an important witness in the legislative bribery probe.

Otis left Columbus about three weeks ago, and since that time detectives from the Franklin county prosecutor's office have been unable to locate him. At his home, the statement was made that Otis was somewhere in New York.

Detective Harry Bradbury spent several days here the first of the week trying to locate Otis. Bradbury, it was learned, was also looking up a sensational combination of legislators in which one northwestern Ohio member is said to be involved. According to evidence in the hands of the prosecutor, this combination is alleged to have had a regular scale of prices for bills in which so much was charged for a motion, so much for recommendation out of committee, and so much for work on the floor.

Just what information Otis has that would be of value to the grand jury is not revealed. While here, Bradbury, it is said, secured some additional information on a "slush fund" that was raised by the loan sharks. How much of this money, if any, was used to corrupt members of the legislature is not known.

Some new developments in this phase of the Franklin county grand jury investigation, are expected before another forty-eight hours.

To Quash Indictments.

Columbus, O., June 8.—Attorneys Belcher and Connor, this afternoon, filed motions to quash the indictments for alleged bribery returned against Senators George K. Cetone, Isaac Huffman, L. R. Andrews and Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Rodney J. Diegle on the main ground that two different crimes are alleged in a single count.

The grounds set up are: 1—That there is duplicity in each indictment. 2—That the intent and purpose to perform the alleged crime is imperfectly alleged. 3—That the indictments fail to state for what purpose the legislative bills they were indicted in connection with were pending before the bodies. 4—That Rodney J. Diegle is charged with "aiding and abetting at divers times" and that in each instance but one date is mentioned. 5—That the indictments fail to state the contents of messages which are claimed to have been carried between the Burns detectives and legislators by Diegle.

It is further claimed that the grand jury overstepped its bounds by "presenting an indictment against Diegle when the contents of such alleged messages were not known; that it is not set forth that said message alleged to have been carried by Diegle had any relation with the offense charged, and that it doesn't show for what purpose the meeting between the legislators and the detectives were arranged."

Grand Jury Rests.

Columbus, O., June 8.—Today was a day of rest for the Franklin county bribe-probing grand jury. It finished last night with its investigaton of the Sanborn murder case and, as the additional witnesses in the alleged bribery cases have been subpoenaed to report tomorrow, the body adjourned until that time.

Prosecutor Turner and his assistants were busy, today, drawing indictments to be presented to Judge Kinkead tomorrow, and in preparing the case against Senator L. R. Andrews and Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Rodney J. Diegel, which has been set for June 19.

One of the witnesses wanted badly by the grand jury has not been found by deputy sheriffs. He was subpoenaed three or four weeks ago, but was not used. Soon after Representative O. J. Evans made his confession, the witness vanished. His wife disclaims knowledge of his whereabouts.

A former employe at the state-house who had the privilege of both floors, said today that he had knowledge of transactions of alleged graft of one man with the erection of the Hospital for the Criminal Insane. He is ready to tell all he knows.

Indictments Nollied.

Columbus, O., June 8.—Judge Frank Rathmell today formally nollied the remaining two indictments against Representative Owen J. Evans, of Stark county, because of testimony which he has given before the Franklin county grand jury.

THE COLLEGIANS OBJECT TO WORK

Declare They Are at College for Wisdom, Not Road Work.

Hiram, O., June 8.—Twenty-two Hiram college students were today sued by the village authorities for refusing to work out their poll tax of three dollars each on the public roads. The twenty-two students, in turn, held an indignation meeting, at which they let it be known that they came to Hiram to attain book wisdom and not knowledge of how to work on the public roads, and that if any further effort is made to include road work in their training, they will betake themselves to other centers of learning. The collegians are also keeping their rooms under lock and key to prevent the village constable levying on their personal belongings for the road tax.

WORD APPLAUSE IN THE WRONG PLACE

Mistake in Congressional Record Leads to Discussion.

Washington, June 8.—The insertion of the word applause in a speech published in The Congressional Record, after the sentence: "Jesus was born in a manger; John the Baptist fed on locusts and wild honey," brought about a few moments of earnest discussion in the house of representatives yesterday.

Minority Leader Mann objected to what he termed the abuse of the "prophecies of the house" inserting the word applause, tumultous applause, and the like in printed speeches.

"I did not think this sentence was so new to members of this house," said Mr. Mann, "that it would actually be greeted with applause."

Taft Goes to Gotham.

Washington, June 8.—President Taft left here at 8:15 o'clock today for New York City. He will spend the afternoon reviewing school children and making several speeches in Brooklyn.

Held Constitutional.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—The commission form of government for cities was upheld as constitutional today by the state supreme court.

A TRAIN DEALS DEATH TO FOUR

Accident Occurs at Bluefield, West Virginia.

CONSTABLE AND A PRISONER KILLED

Another Prisoner, a Negro, Is Badly Injured.

Constable Is on Way to His Residence with Prisoners and Is Aided by Two Other Men When Party Is Run Down by a Norfolk & Western Train—Crew Claims To Know Nothing of Accident.

Bluefield, W. Va., June 8.—Four persons are dead and one probably fatally injured, as the result of being struck by a Norfolk & Western train late last night.

The List of Dead.

Mrs. Martha Noel.
James Payne, town constable.
John Ashworth.
Edward Jones.

Crew Knows Nothing.

Charles Oades, a negro, was seriously injured and has never regained consciousness. He is the only person who can tell of the affair, as the train crew knew nothing of the accident.

Martha Noel and Charles Oades had just been tried on a serious charge at a justice of the peace's office and both were found guilty. They were turned over to Constable Payne, who started for his residence, where he was to keep the prisoners until today, when they were run down by the train. Ashworth and Jones, it is claimed, were helping Payne take the prisoners to his residence.

The Noel woman, it is said, would have been a mother in a week.

Has Good Grounds.

Litchfield, Ills., June 8.—Because Commodore Stevens asked him if he wanted a drink of "good licker," and then gave him a drink of carbolic acid instead of whisky, burning his mouth severely, according to the allegations of William Woods, the latter today sued the former for $5,000 damages.

MEXICO CITY BURIES DEAD

Repairs Damage Done by Yesterday's Earthquake.

THE LIST OF DEAD MAY BE INCREASED

Hospitals Are Crowded with the Wounded.

Peon Laborers, Pressed into Service, Are Razing All Badly-Damaged Buildings in the Santa Maria Quarter and Ruins Are Searched for Dead or Injured—Disaster Throws Gloom Over Madero Reception.

Mexico City, June 8.—While the city authorities are hurriedly repairing the damage caused by yesterday's earthquake shocks, burying the dead and caring for the wounded, the government officials, by direction of Provisional President De La Barra are endeavoring to get into communication with the country south of the capital. It is feared that when details are received the magnitude of the disaster will be greatly increased.

Reports made to the police, today, place the number of dead in the city at seventy-five, of whom forty were soldiers. This list is expected to be increased when the search of the demolished buildings in the poor quarter of the city is completed. Of the injured about 200 are in the main and the temporary hospitals. Many of these are children who are abandoned by their terrified parents following the shocks and who were caught and crushed in the debris of their homes.

Gloom Over City.

The Santa Maria quarter, which suffered the most severely, was surrounded yesterday by a cordon of military. Peon laborers, pressed into service, are razing all badly-damaged structures and searching the ruins of those already fallen for dead or injured.

Other workmen are making temporary repairs to the national palace, the Santo Domingo cathedral and the other noted buildings and churches which were damaged by the quake. The work of repairing the street pavements will be a stupendous task.

The disaster has thrown great gloom over the reception to Madero among the poorer classes who regarded the successful revolutionist as an idol. They fear that it is an omen of evil and every effort is being made by friends of the presidential candidate to counteract this belief.

Madero Discusses Plans.

Francisco Madero's enthusiastic reception yesterday, despite the horror of the earthquake, has encouraged him to believe more firmly than ever that the end of Mexico's troubles is at hand. Discussing his plans, the insurgent chieftain, in an exclusive statement to the United Press, said:

"This six-day trip has been harder than campaigning. Now comes the hardest part. The bullet part is over and our work now is reconstruction.

"I am going to stand for better schools in Mexico and in order to accomplish that we must overturn the whole system of the republic. Dr. Vasquez Gomez will have this duty to perform.

"I will not campaign for the presidency during the period preceding the election. If the people want me elected, I will let them speak their will, and if they want some other man, I shall be satisfied. My triumphal trip southward has convinced me that all the people of Mexico understand the problem we must face and are ready to help solve them. I believe Mexico will at once get down to work again and that peace will be rapidly restored in all parts of the republic.

"I am grateful to the American people for their sympathy during the revolution. The revolution cost me personally $300,000 and there was not one cent of it American money. American and foreign capital will always be welcome in Mexico, as it is needed in the development of the country which we now expect to go on rapidly."

Madero said he expected to take a two months' rest in the country as soon as he was able to get away from the capital.

SAILORS HAVE A NARROW ESCAPE

Grain-Laden Steamer Caught Under Chicago Bridge.

Chicago, June 8.—Sailors aboard the lake steamer, J. S. Keith, grain-laden from Milwaukee, had a narrow escape from death today, when the immense lift bridge over the Chicago river at South Halstead street fell. The vessel was directly under the bridge when the ponderous span descended. The vessel was pushd down four feet, and almost sank. Then the upper works gave way and she resumed her normal position, though held under the fallen bridge as in a vise.

MAGONISTAS ARE ARRESTED

Trouble Looms for Followers of Magon.

UNCLE SAM'S AGENTS GIVE INFORMATION

Mexican Government Also Aids the Police.

Four Magonistas, Followers of the Leader of Mexican Revolutionary Junta in Los Angeles and Lower California, Are Arrested in El Paso When Officers Learn of Secret Meetings Being Held.

El Paso, Tex., June 8.—Trouble for the followers of Ricardo Magon, leader of the Mexican revolutionary junta in Los Angeles, was foreshadowed, today, when four of them were arrested by city police on information furnished by secret agents of the United States and Mexican governments.

The officers confiscated a small supply of rifles and ammunition concealed in the house where the arrests were made.

Three of the four prisoners, Pricliliano Silva, his sons, Benjamin and Reuben, and Thomas Vargas will probably be charged with violation of the neutrality laws, and other arrests are likely to follow.

It is known that the Magonistas have been holding secret meetings in El Paso for weeks. Officials of the Madero government allege a plot against law and order in Juraez, where 1,000 insurgent soldiers are housed, while there has been little disorder in Juarez, a firebrand would start a riot, the officials assert. The presence of so many Magonists in El Paso, when the seat of their government is in Lower California, can only mean disorder, the Madero officials assert.

Significance is also attached to the coming of Juan Sarabia, who arrived in El Paso, last night, after being freed from the military prison of San Juan de Ulua by the intervention of Francisco Madero, Jr. Sarabia was arrested five years ago in Juarez on the charge of conspiracy against the government. He is a Magonista and at one time was editor of La Regeneracion, a Liberal organ now published in Los Angeles. He was accompanied here by Jesus Flores Magon, a brother of the Los Angeles junta leader.

PUBLICITY WILL BE WEAPON USED

Cleveland Garment Workers Will Appeal to Public.

Cleveland, June 8.—Plans for the conduct of their strike solely on a basis of publicity, were announced, today, by 5,000 garment workers who walked out yesterday in an effort to enforce their demands for shorter hours and higher wages. Although pickets were today posted at all shops they were under orders not to interfere with any one, but merely to keep the strike leaders posted as to developments.

Late yesterday, the strikers sprang a big surprise when they announced that Jay P. Dawley, former organizer in the Employers' association, had been engaged to conduct the strike. He agreed to act only on condition that there should be no violence and it is now proposed to win the strike by mass-meetings, parades and the winning over of public opinion.

As yet the employers have made no especial effort to fill the places of the strikers.

TREATMENT OF THE CRIMINALS

Penal Problems Are Discussed in Boston.

GOVERNOR FOSS OPENS MEETING

Many Prominent Men Talk at Conference.

National Conference of Charities and Correction Addressed by Charles W. Elliot, Rev. Frank Moore, Director Healey, of Chicago Juvenile Institute, and Earnest Coulter, of New York Children's Court.

Boston, June 8.—Rational treatment of criminals was pleaded in addresses made today, before the National conference of Charities and Correction by men prominent as authorities on penal problems. Among these were the Rev. Frank Moore, superintendent of the Rahway, New Jersey, reformatory; Dr. William Healy, director of the Juvenile Psychopathic institute, of Chicago, and Ernest K. Coulter, clerk of the Children's court, New York.

The meeting was opened in Tremont temple, last night, by Governor Foss. Addresses were made by Dr. Charles W. Eliot, whose subject was the suppression of moral defectives. Orlando F. Lewis, secretary New York Prison association, and Frederic Howard Wines, Illinois. Dr. Eliot pleaded for more prison instruction, incessant war on the resorts of the vicious and prevention of the propagation of their kind by the morally defective.

Dr. Healy Talks.

Life sentences or permanent guardianship by the state was urged for a certain class of offenders against law by Dr. Healy. The institute is a part of the machinery of the juvenile court of Chicago and Dr. Healy, as its director, has had wide opportunity to analyze the causes which bring children into that court. He made certain comparisons between the manifestations of delinquency in children and criminality in adults, and pointed out that children who came back to the juvenile court again and again are usually of the same type as older offenders who have become habitual criminals and who are committed to prison repeatedly.

While Dr. Healy did not subscribe to the theory that all criminality is a disease or due to a diseased condition, he stated most emphatically that in his judgment, very many cases of recidivism or the recurrence of unlawful acts is due to some discoverable mental defect in the offender.

"But," said Healy, "mental defect is to be considered simply as one of the causes of crime, but it is a cause so obvious, so readily determinable in most cases and so certainly irremediable and provocative of recidivism and moral contagion that one of the first steps of reform in dealing with criminals ought to be directed toward this. The mental defective is suitable neither for probation, reformatory education nor punitive measures, custodial care alone is of service and in the case of the criminalistically-inclined defective, the courts should directly commit and the state protect itself by permanent guardianship."

Mr. Moore's Views.

Special treatment of each criminal as an individual, as opposed to the old system of herding criminals together and treating them in a mass, either from the point of view of punishment or of reform, was urged by Superintendent Frank Moore, of the New Jersey reformatory. Mr. Moore described a number of systems which have been developed recently, which, if applied to each prisoner in an instituton, will determine whether he is mentally normal or subnormal. Each inmate of the reformatory of New Jersey received during the past year has been subjected to one of these tests, and by thus determining his psychological age, it has been established that forty-six per cent. of the inmates so received are mentally sub-normal. The physical age at which delinquents may be legally committed to the reformatory is from sixteen to twenty-five years, but by examination, according to Superintendent Moore, it has been discovered that the mental age of almost one-half the prisoners was below twelve years, while in one case it was less than five. In other words, forty-six per cent of those received had minds which, in knowledge and ability, were only equal to the mind of a child from five to twelve years old.

Coulter's Observations.

Ernest K. Coulter said that the most important step to be taken by the state in its slow abandonment of antiquated methods of treating child offenders and victims of bad environment and neglect must be the establishment of institutions for the special treatment of the mental defectives of this class.

The speaker, who has seen at close range more than 80,000 children pass through the largest children's court in the world, denounced as sentimentalists those who claim that most juvenile delinquents are mentally defective, but concluded that the most conservative observers must agree that there are certain well defined cases of exceptional children, victims of environment or congenital causes which irresistibly predispose them to crime.

"Some of these children," said Mr. Coulter, "I have seen come back to the court five or six times after they had spent years in the ordinary reformatories, all before they had reached the age of sixteen. In forcing the commitment of the defective child in the ordinary reformatory, the state is blind to its cruelty to the children, the injustice to the institution, and the menace to the community."

SOLDIERS ARE TRIM AND FIT

Major Tilson Visits Camp at San Antonio.

SAYS DIVISION IS A SPLENDID BODY

Officers the Finest Men He Ever Met.

Tilson Declares His Experience at the Seat of Maneuvers Demonstrates to Him the Necessity of Abandonment of the Small Army Posts. Says Reduction of Pay and Travel Allowance Is To Be Avoided.

Washington, June 8.—Uncle Sam's soldiers are trim and fit, according to Major John Q. Tilson, representative at large from Connecticut, who has just returned from the camp at San Antonio. He is the only member of congress who has made an extensive inspection of the camp. His views are set forth in the following statement written today for the United Press.

[BY MAJOR Q. TILSON.]

I went to the United States army maneuver camp at San Antonio because I believed it an opportunity to make myself a more useful member of the committee on military affairs.

I was assigned to the headquarters of Major General Carter, where I had opportunity to see and hear everything that was done.

The division is today a splendid, highly-efficient body of fighting men, all of whom are in excellent condition. I found the officers there the finest set of men I had ever met. My experience at San Antonio demonstrated to me the necessity of the abandonment of the small army posts. The army should be gathered into a few large posts for greater economy and because, under the present system, officers higher than major have no opportunity of exercising the commands belonging to their rank.

Above all, I am convince that any reduction of the pay, travel allowance or clothing allowance of the enlisted men is to be avoided.

I believe the plan of detailing militia officers to the maneuver camp will prove a great stimulus to National guardsmen.

ONION PATCH CRIME SOLVED

Virginia Woman Makes Confession Today.

SHE ACCUSES LOVER OF AWFUL MURDER

Rival Killed While Sleeping in Woman's Arms.

While Man Slumbers on Woman's Breast, Rival Comes Through a Window and Crushes Former's Head with Ax—Bleeding Body Is Hid Under Bed, Then Buried in Onion Patch in Back Yard.

Norfolk, Va., June 8.—The mystery of the murder of Harry C. Davis, whose mangled body was found buried in an onion patch at the home of Mrs. Minnie Murdock at the hamlet of Mason's Creek, was solved today when the woman made a confession. She accused her lover, Charles Merkle, of the crime, and said she had aided him in hiding the body after the murder.

The woman's confession was extremely sensational. According to her story, Davis was killed, as he lay sleeping in her arms, by Merkle, who entered the bedroom through a window and crushed his rival's head with an ax. Panic-stricken over the crime, the pair hid the bleeding body under the bed until morning, when they scooped out a shallow hole in the onion bed and buried it.

"Harry Davis, who was also known as Harding," said the woman in her confession, "had been a friend of mine for several years. About three months ago we had a quarrel, and he left me. Then Charlie Merkle and I got to going together.

Harrowing Details.

"We could not agree and I ordered him away. Then Davy came back. Recently I met Merkle and he told me if I didn't drive Harry away he would kill us both.

"A few nights ago, while Harry and I were sleeping, a sudden noise awakened me. I was horrified to find that Harry's head was crushed in and the pillow and my body covered with blood. Merkle was standing beside the bed with a bloody ax in his hands. I screamed, but Merkle told me if I didn't keep quiet he would kill me.

"We took the body—I don't think he was dead yet—and put it under the bed. Then we sat down and waited.

"The garden was the first thing that came into our minds, and we scooped out a hole in the onion patch and buried the body there."

Merkle and the woman are held for murder. The officials had heard that other men who had paid attentions to Mrs. Murdock had been seen going to the farm and had never returned. A search was made, but no trace of any other crime was found.

GAMBLERS CAUGHT BY PREACHER'S RUSE

Disguised as Tramp, Chicago Divine Gets Evidence.

Chicago, June 8.—Disguised as a tramp, Rev. Elmer L. Williams, pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church, entered a gambling house in a basement on the North Side and secured evidence on which the police made a sensational raid, early today, arresting twenty-nine "crap shooters."

Two iron-barred doors had to be battered down with a battering ram. The pastor watched the raid across the street.

"A young member of my church told me he lost $75 in the place," said the preacher. "I went there in my ministerial garb and was denied admittance. So I put on an old suit and made myself look like a tramp. Accompanied by the young man who lost the money, I went back and got in easily. They were "shooting craps." I did not gamble because I don't know how. When I had secured sufficient evidence I went out and swore out warrants.

The police had to draw revolvers to subdue the gamblers. Six hundred dollars in silver were stacked up in front of the gamekeeper.

OWEN J. EVANS PLEADS GUILTY

Stark County Legislator Confesses to Judge.

IS FINED $500 AND THE COSTS

No Prison Sentence Is Given Bribe Taker.

In Passing Sentence, Judge Kinkead Declares Evans' Action Will "Clear Up a Lot of Matters," Adding That Evans Agrees To Go Before the Grand Jury and Tell All He Knows of the Bribery Matters.

Columbus, O., June 5.—Representative Owen J Evans, of Stark county, today pleaded guilty before Judge Kinkead in criminal court to soliciting a bribe of $100 from L. C. Miller, Akron loan agent, in connection with the salary loan bill. He was let off with a fine of $500 when he promised to go before the grand jury immediately and tell all he knew in connection with the alleged bride soliciting in the legislature.

Evan's decision to take this course followed the confession of Charles W. Kemple, clerk of the house of representatives, Friday, to the grand jury that he handed Evans $100 at the request of Miller

The indictment to which Evans pleaded guilty was a new one, returned today in the grand jury's fifth partial report At the same time, Evans was indicted for soliciting a bribe of $400 April 12 from John C. Sharer, of Alliance, in connection with the same salary loan bill. Besides these two indictments, the grand jury reported six other indictments against seven persons, all police court cases.

Evans appeared in the court-room with his attorneys, Thomas H. Clark and Clarence M. Addison, immediately after the grand jury reported. Prosecutor Turner stated the case to the court and recommended clemency. When Clark rose to his feet to speak in behalf of his client, Evans broke into tears.

Evans' Own Desire.

"We have had numerous offers of money to assist in Evans' trial from parties who were not anxious to see him take an 'immunity' bath," Clark said, "but it was Evan's desire to make a clean breast of the matter. He desires to plead guilty and throw himself upon the mercy of the court."

"I most heartily commend the action of Mr. Evans and his attorneys in advising him to plead guilty," Judge Kinkead said in passing sentence. "I consider the action a public service Inasmuch as I firmly believe that Mr. Evans will abide by his promise to tell the grand jury all he knows, I am not going to impose a penitentiary sentence, but will fine him $500 and costs"

Evans was placed in custody of County Detective McGannon until the fine was paid His attorneys returned at noon and paid over the money. Evans was released. The other two indictments pending against Evans will be laid away for the present, Prosecutor Turner said. The one returned several weeks ago charges Evans with soliciting a bribe of $650 from John F Weiss, Canton brewer, in connection with the Dean bill.

Prosecutor Turner and Assistant Attorney General McGee, who are handling the grand jury, expect that Evans' testimony before the grand jury today will result in another batch of indictments being returned against legislators and lobbyists He was a member of the house steering committee of which George B Nye, who was last week acquitted on a bribery charge, was chairman He resigned following the finding of the first true bill against him

Miller Is Mum.

Akron, O., June 5.—L C Miller, Akron loan agent named by Clerk Kempel, of the house of representatives, and Representative Evans as sending $100 by Kempel to Columbus to be used in the fight against the anti-loan shark bills, today refused to make any comment on Kempel's statement of on the confession of Evans implicating him

"When the proper time comes I will issue a statement," was all Miller would say.

At the holy communion celebrated at eight-o'clock mass at St. Mary's Catholic church, Sunday morning nearly 200 children took their first communion. Special music was furnished by the Parochial school choir After a hymn by all the children, the "Renewal of the Baptismal Vow," was renedred in a beautiful manner by Walter Prendergast. This was followed by the holy communion.

The three-days retreat was given the children by Rev. Father Clary, of Louisville, Kentucky.

At 7:30 o'clock, the children were enrolled, and, after the "Scapular of the Blessed Virgin Mary," Rev Father Clary preached an eloquent sermon.

Wires were blown down all over the city and the mayor ordered all power shut off till the wreck can be cleared up. This made a large part of the city dark and kept street cars at a standstill

At Wooster a terrific gale did terrible damages, nearly all the churches being victims. The county infirmary was partly unroofed and one inmate, Louis Long, was killed.

A SWEEPING PROBE WILL BE STARTED

China's Payment of Indemnity Figures in Case.

Washington, June 5.—Testimony given recently by former Secretary of State John W Foster, before the New York surrogate's court, in regard to the manner in which he collected through the state department a claim of $368,000 against the Chinese government, during the Roosevelt administration, resulted today in the declaration by Representative Hamlin, Democrat, of Missouri, chairman of the house committee on expenditures, that a sweeping investigation would be made.

Foster said he acted on behalf of Mrs Georgiana M. Amidon, an heir of "General" Frederick T. Ward, the American soldier of fortune, who was killed while serving in China's military forces in 1862. Ward's claim was for $100,000 It is charged that for some mysterious reason this $100,000 claim amounted to $368,237 when it was paid, and that it was paid out of the boxer indemnity fund, being deducted from that part of the fund returned by this government to China

It had no connection with the indemnity Information has reached Hamlin that Foster and his son-in-law together received $184,118 for their negotiations.

It is alleged that the then United States minister to China, Mr Denby, wrote to the state department, disapproving the claim.

PROCEEDING BEGUN TO SET ASIDE A DEED

Deed Made by Late W. B. Foye, Jr., Bone of Contention.

ALLEGATIONS MADE BY THE PLAINTIFFS

Mrs. C. E. Merkel, Frank M. Foye and George K. Foye Say Their Late Brother Is Not Mentally Qualified When He Deeds His Property to Wife—Court Notes.

Following closely upon the recent death of William B. Foye, Jr., an action to set aside a deed conveying to Ida E Foye, widow of the deceased, the two-story brick business block at No. 136 east Center street, was begun by Florence Foye Merkel, George K Foye and Frank M Foye, sister and brothers of the late William B. Foye, Jr., Friday afternoon, in the common pleas court. The petition was filed by Attorneys Crissinger & Guthery and Jacoby & Donithen.

The plaintiffs say that their late father, William B. Foye, died February 1, 1901, leaving as his only children Florence Foye, wife of Charles E. Merkel; Frank M. Foye, of Canton, and George K. Foye and William B. Foye, Jr., of this city, and that at the time their father died he was seized in fee simple of several tracts of real estate in Marion, Stark, Allen and Morrow counties.

After the death of the father, it is averred that an amicable partition proceeding was brought in the local court of common pleas for the division of the property among the children, the brick business block on east Center street being set off and assigned William B. Foye, Jr., who died May 12, 1911. This property is appraised at $6,630 and is not encumbered.

The petition sets up that for a long time prior to the death of William B. Foye, Jr., he was afflicted by paresis, was, as a result, incapacitated from performing any business transactions, easily influenced, and completely under the control of his wife, Ida E. Foye, who is made the defendant in the action.

It is declared that, after the physicians had pronounced her husband's condition hopeless and incurable, the defendant, by taking advantage of his mental condition, had him execute and deliver to her, March 15, 1911, the deed for the property mentioned. The plaintiffs say that at the time the deed was made the deceased had been adjudged incurable and that his mental weakness was such as to incapacitate him from legally making the deed.

The widow is accused of fraudulently and intentionally procuring the execution of the deed, well knowing at the time her husband's mental condition. They say she is entitled only to a life estate in the ancestral real estate inherited by her husband

In the suit of Florence Foye Merkel and others against Ida E. Foye, the defendant, through Attorneys Charles L. Justice and Mouser & Moloney, Saturday, filed an answer, in which she specifically denies that her late husband. William B. Foye, Jr., was afflicted by paresis and was mentally incapacitated at the time he made the deed in question On the contrary, she says her husband, instead of being mentally unbalanced, "would receive and obey kindly admonitions and accept the gentle ministrations of life and duty tendered to him by the defendant during a long and serious illness which resulted in his death."

The defendant emphatically denies that her husband had been adjudged incurable, and also denies that she knew at the time the deed had been made to her She says it was made in escrow and delivered to her following her husband's death. She says she had no knowledge of the deed being made until after it was executed.

Last Friday afternoon, G. Elliott Stayner and Benjamin C Houseworth filed petitions-in-error in the common pleas court. Stayner was fined $50 and coses and Houseworth $200 and costs by Mayor Seiter for alleged violation of the Rose law

The suit of the American Sewer Pipe company against the Ohio Lumber & Clay Pipe company has been dismissed at the cost of the defendant company The case was appealed from the court of Justice William DeRoche, of Salt Rock township, and was a suit on an account for $35.50.

Estranged and separated because of the husband's alleged brutality and reunited while the husband, Clarence Noyes, was seriously ill on a hospital cot in Columbus only to be cruelly treated and neglected again after the stricken husband recovered, is the story of Mrs. Eva Noyes, who filed her second petition for a divorce in the common pleas court Monday.

The plaintiff sets up that she was married to the defendant, April 1, 1888, and that seven children were born to them, six of whom are living. She declares that during the past ten years he has been a confirmed drunkard and very abusive to her and their children, three of whom are minors

May 27, 1909, the plaintiff says she filed an action for a divorce, when the defendant became sick and was not expected to live. He was confined in a Columbus hospital. She says his people persuaded her to go to his bedside and there a reconciliation was effected. He promised to stop drinking and be a true husband and father. On the contrary, she declares, he later "conducted himself in a half-respectable manner."

It is averred that besides beating the children when in his cups, he threatened to kill her and the children.

A temporary injunction restraining him from disposing of or encumbering his one-fifteenth interest in a house and lot at LaRue and forty acres in Richland township, has been granted. The LaRue property is valued at $1,500 and the Richland farm land is valued at $4,000. She asks custody of the minor children and suitable alimony

William J. Alexander against Harry R. Ten Eyck and others is the title of a suit to quiet a title filed in the common pleas court by Attorney C. C. Fisher, late Saturday afternoon. The petition names twenty-three defendants. The plaintiff avers that the defendants claim some interest in about 400 acres in Salt Rock and Grand Prairie townships, but he denies that they have any interest whatever in the land.

A reply, setting up a general denial to the allegations made in the answer of the defendant, has been filed by the plaintiff in the suit of Gustavus A. Koenig against Myrtle B. Koenig. He particularly denies that he was ever cruel to her or used bad language and used intoxicants excessively. He declares she left him because she preferred the society of other men

In the damage suit of Alva C. McAnnich the C., C., C. & St. L. Railway company, the defendant has filed an answer, setting up a general denial.

BOTTLES OF BEER AT THE SMITH RESIDENCE

Collections Made by the Mayor During the Past Month—Chief Klinefelter Seeks To Enforce the Ordinance Governing Autos in City. Some Police Items.

A number of warrants, to search places for intoxicating liquors, were secured by Chief Klinefelter, Saturday afternoon, and for a time the officers were kept busy. Warrants were issued to search the Little Inn, conducted by Benjamin Houseworth on north Main street, and also the butcher shop of Edward Fergus, which adjoins the Houseworth place. Nothing was found at either of these places. The residence of William McIncrow, in a south Main street flat, was visited by the officers Saturday afternoon. Here a quart bottle of whisky and several empty beer bottles were found by the officers As a result of the finding of the goods an affidavit will be filed against McIncrow, charging him with keeping a place in violation of the Rose law.

About 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, Captain Bond and Officers McColly and Jones visited the home of William Smith, colored, who resides on Park street Previous to the visit at the house, the officers watched the place to see if their suspicions that Smith was selling liquor were well founded. When the officers entered the house to make the search several men were in the house. A sack containing nineteen bottles of beer was found and this was taken by the officers as evidence against Smith. The latter was taken to the city prison and a charge of selling intoxicants will be filed against him.

Clell Taylor, who was arrested here, last Thursday evening, for the officers of Pikeville, Kentucky, was taken back to Kentucky, Saturday evening, by a United States officer who came here for the prisoner with requisition papers Taylor stated that he was wanted there for alienating the affections of the wife of Daniel Thompson, claiming that the woman with him had been his wife for sixteen years and was the mother of his four children

According to the officer who came after Taylor, the latter left his wife and four children at Pikeville and ran away with Thompson's wife The husband of the Thompson woman is a prominent and well-to-do butcher of Pikeville The officer paid Chief Klinefelter the $25 reward which was offered for the arrest of Taylor.

CURIOSITY OF HEIFER BRINGS ABOUT DEATH

Braces Herself in the Path of Traction Car.

The Delaware Glee club was greeted by a large and appreciative audience at the First Presbyterian church in Marion, Friday evening, the concert being for the benefit of the Forest Lawn Sunday-school. Following the concert, the club was treated to an enjoyable banquet.

The excitement of the evening occurred on the return trip just south of Owens, when a two-year-old heifer braced itself for a look at the oncoming car, which could not be stopped until too late for a head-on collision. The heifer was instantly killed as a result of her attempts to see the Glee club, and the front of the car was somewhat wrecked. The identity of the heifer's owner could not be learned in a brief stop made following the collison.—Delaware Gazette.

RELIGIOUS FESTIVAL.

By William T. Ellis

The International Sunday-School Lesson for June 11 Is, "Hezekiah's Great Passover." 2 Chron. 30.

What is the power that most strongly binds a people, or even foreign nations together? Other nations frankly express their amazement at the closer relations now being established between Canada and the United States, and between Great Britain and the United States. They seem unable to explain the phenomena. Small wonder, for they look no deeper than the selfish concerns of statecraft, whereas the strongest cord in this new international tie is the greatest unifying factor in each of these nations itself. It never occur to the man who is engrossed in concerns of high politics that such an inconspicuous factor as the International Sunday-School movement, or Christian Endeavor, or the Young Men's Chirstian association, or the Laymen's Missionary movement might be considerable forces in this new state of mind.

Such, none the less, is the case. The law that Hezekiah observed still holds good today. When the old Hebrew king wanted to draw all his people together, and even the alienated northern kingdom also, he sounded the appeal to a common past in religious life. It was faith in Jehovah, a faith often dim and ignored or deserted, but still the one common heritage of the people, that made the Jews a nation. That note was still the deepest and strongest appeal. There are immense possibilities of human welfare in the truth that the two most powerful nations in the world are fundamentally Christian. Teachers with an eye open for straws which reveal prevailing currents are not blind to the deeper meaning of the incident when the king of Great Britain entertained at luncheon Rev Dr. J H Jowett, a non-conformist clergyman about to leave England to become a New York pastor; or when the same monarch received in private audience Dr. Grenfell, the missionary to Labrador.

Stirring the Deep Springs.

Petty divisions and local abuses of many sorts tended to separate the Jews of Hezekiah's time into groups and mutualilly antagonistic communities This was especially true with respect to the great division between the northern and southern kingdoms. The king might have taken up these one by one, and tried to patch them up. But he knew a better way. He realized that there was a deep, bidden sentiment in the hearts of all Jews, of loyalty to the God of their fathers Likewise he understood that neglect of religion was the fundamental failure of the time

All religious visions, and most personal, and national calamities, are due to an inadequate loyalty to God. The cure for all the ills of the church is simply a deeper devotion to the church's Lord. The blight of denominational rivalry will disappear from North America as soon as Christians learn to love Christ more than their own way and their own past. All the little ponds and eddies along the shore are submerged when the tide comes in The floods of God will submerge the differences and disagreements between Christians.

There is a profound truth here, indicated by the lesson story, that needs close pondering. When the disciples of Christ find themselves engrossed in devotion to Him they will be in realization of practical Christian unity. The greatest Christian union meeting ever held did not have Christian union as its object, it was the World's Missionary conference at Edinburg a year ago. In the face of a world service, all the divided branches of Christendom realized their unity. A young Philadelphia Friend, who had been a practicing physician ere he went to Canton to represent the University of Pennsylvania in the mission there, told me with a sparke in his eye, as we walked amid the graves outside of that ancient Chinese city, that he found himself unable to maintain an interest in the trivial differences in the Society of Friends, about which he heard from home, for they shrank into insignificance in the face of China and its need for Christianity's fundamentals Only a very narrow-minded person can retain sectarian prejudices on the mission field. Both church and nation rise to a higher unity and loyalty in the face of the call to return to the first love.

A "Reform" for the Preachers.

Thanksgiving day is a great national asset, a powerful promoter of patriotism. As Hezekiah called to the Jews everywhere to come up to the city of David for a national religious festival, a Thanksgiving day and a feast of remembrance, the national Passover, he urged appropriate preparation. Deep experiences call for earnest self-examination. Imagine a man or a woman going thoughtlessly to the marriage altar. Every important act in life should be preceded by careful consideration.

And as a first step in this great Jewish celebration, Hezekiah called for the purification of the Levites and the priests. Repentance must begin at the house of God. The world will never be purified by a spotted church. The wise king, when he had called the religious leaders of the people together, pointed out that the punishment of Jehovah had fallen upon the nation because of its religious declensions and the irreligion of those who should have been first in fidelity to Jehovah. So the first step in the preparation of the Passover was the sanctification of the Levites

One can not resist the temptation to speculate upon what would be the result if the ministers of religion in our own land were to have squarely put up to them the responsibility for moral and political conditions in the nation. Imagine all preachers off in a "retreat" for the purpose of searching their own hearts with respect to the state of the country. Would one man see that his failure to preach clearly the ethical teachings of the gospel had been responsible for the gradual decay of the moral fiber of that church-member who is now a condemned grafter? Would the vote-buying in certain communities rise up to condemn the ministers who had either winked at it, or failed to blister with the condemnation of Jehovah the traitors who had shared in it? The lust for vanities and fashion, the weakening of sacred home ties, the neglect of the family altar, the decline of church-going—would these appear at the door of the ministers of the Most High who had failed to make religion attractive, or to satisfy the soul-needs of their people? Delicate and dangerous as is this subject, it is only an obvious and logical deduction from the inspired story of how Hezekiah began to prepare for his great Passover by calling the priestly class to self-examination and repentance.

Rallying to Jerusalem.

Despite all their defects, there was something sublime about the Crusades of the Middle Ages. They were a magnificent conception The rock-bottom fact was a concern for the city and tomb of the Crucified. Nowadays few persons in the enlightened Christian churches seem to care a straw about Jerusalem. They are not disturbed by the infidel's possession of the city that Jesus loved. That Christian-hating and Jew-hating Moslems have a mosque on the site of the temple seems to be of no more interest to the generality of Christians than any other item of travel information. We have grown blase and unsentimental; Jesus might weep over the holy city, but His present-day disciples would not stir a hand to see that in the exigencies of present-day politics, it would come in to the possession of a Christian nation that would bring liberty of worship, tolerance and freedom to all, with power of the Moslem to oppress the Christian removed The few scores of pathetic Jews who gather daily by the stones of the wall of Solomon's temple to wail over the decline of Jerusalem are merely an object of curiosity, rather than of sympathy, to Christendom.

Yet in Jerusalem is still, as in Hezekiah's time, memory, unity, and inspiration. I cannot escape the conviction, after having travelled all over the Bible lands and the ancient world, that this strangely-persisting city is to have a new place in the plan of God. The city which He loved is still to be the rallying point of His people everywhere. In the reunion of Christendom there will be a peculiar place for the city of Zion. Hezekiah was observing the divine order when he summoned all Jews up to Jerusalem.

Touching a People's Hearts.

From North and South came the Jews to the great Passover. They brought offerings so lavishly that the force of priests was inadequate to handle them; real religion always expresses itself in giving. There cannot be a revival of religion in a niggardly church; or if there is, it will be driving out the spirit of meanness Christianity costs a man nothing to get, but it costs him his all to keep Closed purses close hearts. It is the open hand that God fills with blessing In this national revival there was a feast of generosity Small wonder the people were glad; there is no gladness in life for stingy souls It is when we give that we get. Seven days were not long enough for the keeping of this feast, so another seven days was added It was like a great family reunion—a reunion with the heavenly Father first, and then with the brethren Old disagreements were forgotten; at the house of God the hearts of the people of God were touched So we read that "The Lord hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people."

Of course reform followed the revival. Any religious stir in a community that does not eventuate in new righteousness, may be put down as mere hysteria The whole nation turned to idol-smashing The former filthiness was put away The best cure for all national ills is a revival of religion.

ARE MARRIED AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE

Miss Della Nicholson and Mr. Elza Main.

Prospect, O., June 5.—[Special]—Mr. Elza C Main, of Geneva, and Miss Della M. Nickelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J H. Nickelson, of Prospect, were married at high noon, Sunday, at the home of the bride's parents two miles north of Prospect. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. L. Bender, of Marion.

A number of relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony, which was followed by an elaborate wedding dinner.

The bride is an accomplished young woman of excellent Christian character and has a large circle of admiring friends. Mr. Main was formerly of Marion county, but for some time past has been a resident of Geneva. He is a Christian young man of exellent habits.

Among the presents received was a fine piano from the bride's parents.

The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and pink and white roses. The couple will leave for Geneva in a few days where they will make their future home.

A man can lead any woman to talk, but he can't always make her say what he wants to hear.

LIFE ON SUBMARINE IS VERY UNPLEASANT

One Dodges Machinery and Chokes for Air.

FUMES OF GASOLENE ALMOST SUFFOCATING

If Under Water Too Long One Gets Sick and Dizzy — Unpleasant Symptoms Experienced When Craft Does the Diving Stunt—How Meals Are Cooked.

The first impressions received on descending into the hold of a submarine are those of discomfort and suffocation. The accommodations for a crew of thirteen seem about right for half a dozen. One is in too close proximity to whirring machinery too to enjoy the sensation.

On all sides are arranged electrical devices and machinery to operate the craft and the torpedoes, says Harper's Weekly. A thin shell of steel separates the visitor from the torpedoes, and the outside water is so close that one can almost feel its moisture.

When under way on the surface the submarine hums and trembles. The fumes of gasolene are almost suffocating There is no escaping from them. Some of the men contract what is called "gasolene heart." If under water too long the fumes make one sick and dizzy.

A novice can not remain in a submarine under water for any great length of time without suffering excruciating torture. In time, however, one gets used to it and a trip may be one of enjoyment.

But it is when the submarine dives that the most unpleasant symptoms come. There are ten compressed air tanks supplied and these furnish sufficient air to keep the crew alive a good many hours. But did you ever live on compressed air? If not it will be a new sensation, especially if you are fifty feet below the surface of the water. There is a tingling sensation all over the body, a pounding of the ear drums and possibly a sense of nausea.

As the air is automatically regulated from the compressed air tanks one gets his share of the oxygen, but sometimes the supply may varry. It certainly does in different parts of the ship. One may be choking for lack of good air in one part and be exhilarated by a too abundant supply in another.

Sometimes when the engines are running to charge the batteries the fumes of the gasolene become so strong that men are rendered unconscious. They must be taken up on deck then to get a whiff of fresh air.

For this reason the batteries are only charged when above the water But in time of war it might be necessary to charge them while running below Then indeed the man aboard the submarine might envy the aerial navigator flying above the sea with his abundance of fresh air to breathe

Cooking under water is a pretty uncertain and disagreeable work. The only appliance for this purpose is a small electric heater. This is just about big enough to heat water to make a cup of coffee, and nothing else. The crew have their food cooked aboard the tender.

The submarine is built on the principle of economizing space in everything. There is no room for anything except the actual necessities. Every inch of space is given over to machinery. This is everywhere, compact and efficient, but multiplied so often that one wonders what it is all for.

There is machinery for running the boat, for guiding it under water, for controlling it when it dives, for compresisng the air tanks, for operating the torpedoes, and even for regulating the power of vision above and below water When caught in a storm in a submarine life is really not worth living. It consist of a series of intense struggles to prevent death by being battered against steel walls or to keep from becoming involved in whirring whels and dynamos

WINDOW DRESSING OBSERVED BY MANY

Comments on Displays of Swell New York Stores.

"In no city in the country are store windows dressed so tastefully as in this town," said the visitor. "The large stores go in for it on a magnificient scale and undoubtedly employ high-priced window dressers, but owners of the smaller stores take pains to decorate their window space in becoming fashion.

"I saw an instance of this the other day. It was in a downtown street after business hours A new dress was being fitted to the window of a sporting goods store

"The man who was doing the job had strung a line of golf bags across the window. In order that there should be no deviation in the distance between the bags he used a foot rule to measure the distance between them. Of course that made proper alignment.

"The same care was taken in the distribution of golf sticks, boxes of balls and other articles in the window Naturally that window did not have a slovenly apeparance when the dresser got through.

"I was interested in the man who was doing the work. He was slim and pale, and where his gray hair was not thin there was none. He looked the man who would take infinite pains in his work and worry over it. His could not be an easy job."—New York Sun.

MARRIAGE FOLLOWS DECREE OF DIVORCE

Mrs. Alice A. Lever Weds Samuel H. Fetter.

REV. F. E. ZECHIEL PERFORMS CEREMONY

Bride Is Married and Divorced Five Times—She Is Forty-Eight Years of Age and Her Husband Is Two Years Her Junior—Will Reside on Farm in Country.

Granted a decree of a divorce from William Lever, a former Columbus policeman, last Thursday, Alice A. Lever was married for the sixth time to Samuel H. Fetter, a Prospect township farmer, Saturday evening at 7 o'clock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev F. E Zechiel, pastor of the Reformed church, at his home on south Prospect street.

The bride is believed to hold the Marion county record for marriages and divorces. She is forty-eight years old and her new husband is two years her junior.

Several weeks ago, when the last divorce case of the bride was heard by Judge Scofield he came to the conclusion that the tesimony of Mr. Lever, who lives in Columbus, should also be heard Lever was notified and he soon afterward came into court, telling the judge that he would be doing him a great favor by granting her a divorce decree. He said that he was her fifth husband and that she had been divorced from all of them but him.

Last Thursday, Judge Scofield granted Lever the favor asked by him and restored the much-married woman to her maiden name of Eversole The woman evidently did not know this, however, for when she accompanied Mr. Fetter to the probate court, Saturday, she gave her name as Lever.

Mr. and Mrs Fetter will make their future home on a farm near Prospect.

LITTLE ONE SUFFERS DANGEROUS SCALDS

Overturns Pail of Hot Water Mother Is Using.

While his mother was sterilizing some bottles in scalding hot water, Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock, George, the year-and-a-half-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stafford, of east Center street, reached up and overturned the pail upon himself and suffered very serious burns. Monday his condition was serious, but it is believed he will recover.

The tot was playing about the room while his mother was busy and suddenly reached for the pail. Mrs. Stafford was not far from his side, but was too late to save him. Drs. F. Young and J. B. Taylor were summoned and gave the child the necessary attention. The skin on the lad's right side and about the shoulders and bosom peeled from his body, but the muscles were not seriously burned.

It begins to look as though somebody will have to use the dictaphone on congress to get it to adjourn.

No doubt Mr. Evans has read that good old line about an honest confession being good for the soul.

Among the lost arts, also, appears to be the uniting of two churches without raising a fight.

Looking backward may prove a pleasant occupation for some people, but it assists one but little in being in position to look the grocer and the butcher squarely in the eye.

Of course, our farmer friends are enough interested in the matter of reciprocity with Canada to give it a thought now and then when it's rainy or the roads are too bad to be out with their automobiles.

The Toledo Blade tells us that the legislature stopped the clock while the final work of emptying the treasury was in progress. Probably took it for that new-fangled device to catch bribe-takers.

Maybe the chaplains of the general assembly would have made better showings had their teammates given them better support.

It is apparent that Mr. Lorimer feels satisfied that the senate's vindication machine is still in working order.

While Colonel Bryan says he will not be a candidate for president again, he has given us no assurance that he will not emulate another distinguished gentleman of opposite political faith and name of the candidate.

For some reason, the paragraphers appear to look on "Sunny Jim" Sherman as the Alton B. Parker of the Republican party.

Mr. Castro should be grateful to the kindly correspondents for giving him that delightful ocean trip back to South America even if he didn't know anything about it at the time.

A statement that he will not be a candidate for president makes almost as good Chautauqua advertising for Colonel Bryan as would a statement that he had not entirely recovered from his pernicious political habit.

The Toledo Blade is apprehensive that some heavy-footed American may tread on that coronation train of Queen Mary and cause international complications, which will set at naught all President Taft's plans for a world peace. But from the advance reports, no American, with Mary's consent, will get close enough to do any damage to the royal garment.

One member of the legislature has pled guilty to accepting a money bribe to influence his vote. Let no guilty man escape. It would be well, also, to see if the authorities can not induce some member to "come across" who accepted a bribe in the form of a promise of an office for a relative or friend as the price of his vote. Both forms of bribery are about equally reprehensible.

And so we are to have another "petition in boots." General Coxey is too busy seeking men to work in his various enterprises to lend, and so that wealthy faker, Eads Howe, is to conduct an aggregation of hoboes to Washington to urge congress to pass laws which will give work to all the unemployed upon the public roads with a fixed minimum wage scale. And wherever the hoboes start from and whatever the line of march they will pass farmers pleading for help to garner their crops. But they will pass unheeding.

The Cleveland Leader says: "Sorrows are continuing to visit themselves upon Governor Harmon. The Monday newspapers have begun to tell what church Woodrow Wilson attended on Sunday." The governor might even the thing up by attending church occasionally; the newspaper fellows are always looking for news.

We do not care how high the duty on the raw material for bologna sausage is made when women bring it over from Europe "on the hoof," as they say in Chicago.

The bride, looking very sweet in a dainty creation of hand-painted white chiffon over silk, and carrying a bouquet of bride roses, mingled with her guests until the appointed hour for the service at 8:15 o'clock, when the bride and groom appeared before an improvised altar of ferns, in the front parlor. Here, in the presence of thirty-six relatives and intimate friends of the bridal couple, Rev. G. M. Rourke, of the First Presbyterian church, read the ring marriage service.

A CHRISTIAN WOMAN PASSES TO HER REWARD

The second year following her marriage, Mr. Haberman entered the business of a contractor and builder, winning signal success. Since his death several years ago the widow, with whom he had lived for more than fifty years, rapidly declined.

JAMIE M'MURRAY IS VERY BADLY INJURED

Lad Is Run Down by Auto of J. L. Eberhart.

IS RIDING BICYCLE WHEN HE IS STRUCK

Is Taken to Father's Office Where Identity Is Learned and Then to His Home—Several Human Interest Features in Connection with the Deplorable Accident.

Several human-interest features are interwoven in the story of a collision of an automobile and a bicycle on east Center street, near the S. E. Barlow home, Friday night about 8:30 o'clock, when Jamie, fourteen-year-old son of Dr. James A. McMurray, of No. 509 east Church street, was severley injured and his bicycle wrecked.

Friday, Bobby McMurray, a brother of the injured boy, was twelve years old. His father bought him a new bicycle for a birthday present. That evening, Jamie rode Bobby's bicycle and Bobby rode Jamie's wheel. They were coming home and riding east on Center street, when J. Lee Eberhart, of No. 209 north Grand avenue and George Conley, who was riding with him, came behind the two boys in his automobile. At the same time a street car came from the east. Eberhart says he turned his car out. As he did so, his machine struck the rear wheel of Jamie's bicycle, with the result that the boy was hurled against the curbing on his abdomen.

Bicycle Under Auto.

The bicycle, becoming entangled under the automobile, knocked out the plug of the water-cooler. Mr. Eberhart says he tried his best to stop as soon as possible after he saw he was about to hit the bicycle. He admits, however, that his machine was only equipped with oil lights. He was so much excited that he was overcome for a short time and was compelled to lay down on the lawn grade, after having helped place the dazed boy into the automobile of Dr. C. G. Smith, who was following in the wake of the Eberhart machine a short distance.

Dr Smith, who was accompanied by a woman, placed her on a street car, and he took the youth to the office of the lad's father, at the corner of Center and State streets. There he learend that the boy was the son of Dr McMurray. Dr. Smith then drove rapidly to the McMurray home, his father having left the office.

Dr H L. Uhler was summoned. The doctors held a consultation with the boy's father. It was decided to call Dr. Baldwin, of Columbus, who arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock, Friday night. He said he did not believe the boy was internally hurt, and expressed the opinion that he would survive. Next morning, Master Jamie was much improved.

Many Wild Stories.

Many wild stories were rife concerning the accident, Friday night. One was that, after running down the boy, the automobile driver stopped, picked him up unconscious and laid him across the curbing and drove rapidly away. There was nothing in such tales.

Mr. Eberhart declares he was not driving rapidly. Following the accident to the child and to his machine, he declares that he made all the effort possible under the circumstances to learn the boy's identity. After having lain down on the lawn for a short time, he says he found the plug to his water cooler and obtained water and filled the cooler. Eberhart says that after making a futile effort to learn the identity of the injured lad, he went home and went to bed.

While the machine was standing by the roadside its number was obtained by Dale Trowbridge, who is Dr. McMurray's chauffeur, and together with George B. Knapp he located Miss Ivadelle Coil, deputy clerk of the courts. Miss Coil went to the courthouse and learned from the automobile records on file in the clerk's office that the car belonged to J. L. Eberhart, the number being 18076.

Bobby, who was with his brother, was so badly frightened at the time that he did not know his name or where he lived.

RAINY-DAY STORY OF DR. ZACH B. HOUGHTON

The Unexpected Recovery of Valued Umbrella.

INSCRIPTION BRINGS ABOUT THE RECOVERY

An Upper Sandusky Man Who Always Carries Two Watches—Explanation of Need for Two Timepieces. A Story Told by James T. Close, Court Stenographer.

"This refreshing rain reminds me of the only time I ever lost an umbrella," said Dr. Zach B. Houghton, the dentist, this morning. "And thereby hangs a tale, as you newspaper fellows say. The umbrella was a dandy. My dad bought it for me when he was over in the old country. I think he got it at Eiffel tower, and he had a gold band made for it which bore these words, 'I stole this umbrella of Zach B. Houghton, Richwood, Ohio.'

"We lived at Richwood then, of course. Along in 1893 or 1894 I was at Delta, a little town near Toledo, and somehow or other I lost that rain-stick. I either left it in Delta or lost it in Toledo when changing cars. Anyhow I went home to Richwood feeling mighty blue. But I wasn't to feel blue very long, for within a few days I received the umbrella. Somebody had found it, read the inscription and sent it to me by express. I paid the charges of twenty-five cents only too gladly."

Carries Two Watches.

James T. Close, official court stenographer and the father of Charles F. Close, prosecuting attorney of Wyandot county, sprung a good story during the recess of a trial before Judge W. E. Scofield the other day. Somebody had said something about the courthouse clock being out of gear, and Stenographer Close bit off the end of his tobey, smiled and said:

"That reminds me of a great big fellow who lives up our way. He weighs over 200 pounds, but that hasn't anything to do with the story. What I want to tell you is that this man carries two watches, with a massive gold chain strung through a vest buttonhole. On one end of the chain is a watch which records sun time and on the other end is a watch which runs according to standard time.

"If any one asks him why he carries two watches, he'll always say: 'Well, when I am in my little town and I want to know the hour of day or night I always look at this watch. And he'll pull out the watch which keeps sun time. Then when I am in Upper Sandusky and anybody wants to know the time, why I pull out this watch,' Charley says. And out comes the watch which keeps standard time."

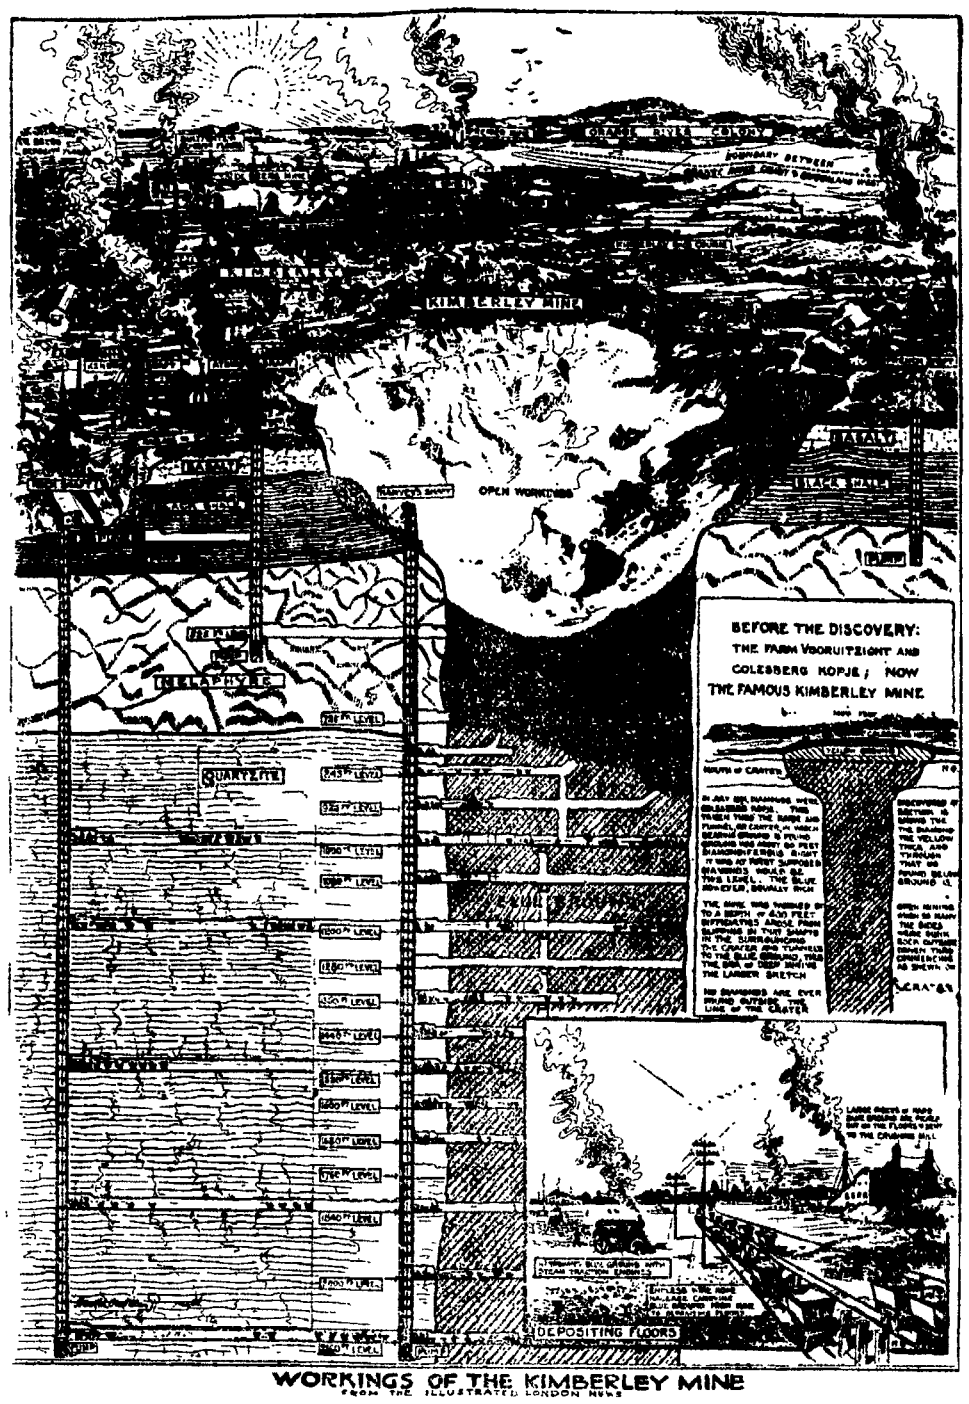
THE GREAT KIMBERLY DIAMOND MINE AND THE MANNER IN WHICH IT IS WORKED ARE HERE SHOWN



WORKINGS OF THE KIMBERLEY MINE
FROM THE ILLUSTRATED LONDON NEWS

Diamonds were discovered at Colesberg Kopje in 1867, but it was not until July of 1871 that the value of the find was realized, and there was a rush to the site, which at that time was barren veldt. In the drawing is shown the funnel, or crater, in which the diamond bearing ground is found. As noted in the illustration, the yellow ground, which is diamonditerous right through, was about sixty feet thick. It was thought that diamonds would not be found below this, but it was found that the blue ground was quite as rich. For a depth of 400 feet the mine was worked by open mining; then the "landslips" from the sides of the workings caused so much trouble that it was decided to sink shafts in the rock surround the funnel and drive tunnels from these into the blue ground. Thus the era of deep mining was begun. It should be noted that no diamonds have been found outside the line of the funnel.

NEW MOVING-PICTURE THEATER FOR THE CITY

Will Occupy the Old Kasson Site on Center Street.

THE FRONT OF THEATER WILL BE OF MARBLE

The Building Is To Cost $5,000 or More and the Theater Will Be One of the Finest of Its Kind in the State—Structure To Be Completed Within Ninety Days.

J. Clark, of Covington, Kentucky, has obtained a five-to-ten-year lease on the George B. Christian property at No. 117 east Center street, known as the old Kasson property. He will remove the little, old frame building and erect in its place a modern city moving-picture theater to cost $5,000 or more.

When seen with reference to the lease, Saturday, Colonel Christian said he did not know whether Mr. Clark represented a syndicate, but declared that he was certain that one of the finest buildings for moving pictures in this part of the country would be erected. "The front is to be of marble," he said.

G. A. Romoser, who now occupies the frame building with a confectionery and fruit store, has sixty days in which to move. The lease secured by the Covington man calls for the completion of the new building within ninety days.

Asked if he would mind stating the consideration, Colonel Christian said:

"If I said anything about it, I would say that the lease shows a great deal of confidence in Marion real estate."

It is understood that the land rental price fixed by the lease is the largest ever paid for any piece of realty of similar dimensions in Marion. The frontage is twenty-three and one-half feet.

SELLING TIES IN GOTHAM STREETS

Different Methods Illustrated by Two Venders.

Here were two street men in the same block selling neckties from pushcarts. Each had a solid cartload of neckties and all were of the same kind, though of many colors. But while their stocks were just alike these two pushcart men had very different methods of inviting custom.

One had his stock trimly arranged in the original boxes. His stock completely covered the pushcart from end to end and from side to side and overlapping; the open boxes ranged along close together in long rows, making with the varied colors of the various ties a striking display. It might have seemed that this was the only way to show them to the best advantage with the highest power of attraction.

The necktie man with his pushcart against the curb twenty feet further along had his stock all out of the boxes and piled loosely in a big mound that all but covered the cart. The colors of this mound were kaleidoscopic and the mixture of the ties was as complete as would have been that of the jackstraws in a dozen bundles dropped in a heap all at once.

It may be that each of these necktie venders had found by experience that the method he followed was the best; but to an outsider it seemed as if the two methods might more likely reveal the personal characteristics of the sellers. One was a man of an orderly, precise habit who liked to see his stock arranged symmetrically. The other was a man more on the slapdash order, who went in for effect in another way.

And what was the actual drawing power of these two methods? Well, the outsider has no knowledge as to which stock would attract the greater number of customers in the long run, but he knows how the two stocks struck him and what he actually saw. It seemed to him that he would feel a little shy about pulling and hauling over the ties contained in the boxes of the primly arranged stock, while he would feel quite free and easy about the other stock to do as he pleased; and as matter of fact there was at this moment nobody even looking at the systematically arranged stocks, while at the other cart there was a man pawing the stock over now and then pulling out a tie and holding it up to see how it looked. Evidently he enjoyed this freedom of inspection; and he looked like a man who was interested in the ties and who intended to buy.—New York Sun.

SHARK GETS PART OF THE DIPLOMAT'S FISH

Record Made by Englishman Is Just Discovered.

That Thomas B. Hohler, the British charge d'affaires, made a great fishing record during two days and a half recently spent at Tampico has just been discovered by his friends.

During the time the diplomat succeeded in bring to land seven large tarpon, the shortest of which measured four feet and six inches, while the longest would doubtless have broken the record had not an officious shark bitten off his tail just as he was being landed. This fish measured six feet and one inch without his caudal appendage, which deprived Mr. Hohler of the right doubtless to hold the record for tarpon hauls. The longest caught up to this time measured seven feet and four or five inches.

Mr. Hohler is having two of the fish he caught mounted, and will give his friends an opportunity later to see for themselves that this is not just a fish story.—Mexican Herald.

POOR HOMELESS BOY IN THE PROBATE COURT

Doctors Say He Is Not Insane but Homesick.

HIS FATHER IS DEAD AND MOTHER REMARRIED

Pathetic Case Brought Before the Probate Judge—Youth Will Return to Regular Army Service with a Certificate That His Yearning for Home Folks Causes Actions.

Uhler C. Kannel, of Grand township, who joined the regular army for a term of three years last March and was stationed in the army barracks in Columbus, was up before Probate Judge W. S. Spencer on a lunacy warrant, Friday afternoon. After an exhaustive examination, Judge Spencer, on the advice of Drs. F. Young and H. L. Uhler, held that Kannel, who is only nineteen years old, was not insane. The doctors declared that he was a victim of homesickness.

The boy ran off from the Columbus barracks several weeks ago and returned to the home of his brother, Sidney Kannel, in Grand township. His father is dead and his mother has remarried and removed to Detroit. He had joined the army because he had no home.

When young Kannel returned his brother took him back to Columbus and the army officers said he would not be punished because he had not been gone ten days. Sidney Kannel came home and a few days later his brother followed. He ran away from the barracks a second time and acted so peculiarly that it was believed he was insane. His brother filed an affidavit in lunacy against him.

Drs. Young and Uhler signed a certificate, which will be presented to the army officers in Columbus, saying that the boy was a victim of homesickness and not accountable for what he had done. During the examination the boy was very reticent and refused to answer many of the questions asked.

THE CELEBRATION OF A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Ethel L. Krause and Mr. C. M. Howser United.

REV. GEORGE M. ROURKE PERFORMS CEREMONY

The Marriage Service Is Followed by a Reception and Dinner—Mr. and Mrs. Howser Leave for a Brief Wedding Journey—Will Make Future Home in the City.

A very informal but beautiful home wedding was celebrated at the Krause home on south State street, Thursday evening, when Miss Ethel L. Krause, the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Krause, was united in marriage to Mr. Clifford M. Howser.

The home was decorated with bouquets of cut flowers and ferns. At 7:30 o'clock, the bridal couple, unattended, took their places before a bank of ferns in the front parlor where, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and a few immediate friends, Rev. G. M. Rourke, of the first Presbyterian church, read the impressive ring service.

After the ceremony a reception was held and an elegant wedding dinner was served at the Krause and Diebold homes. The young women of the M. O. B. club, of which the bride's sister is a member, assisted in serving.

Later in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Howser, accompanied to the train by about fifty young people, left at 11:15 o'clock on a wedding journey to Detroit, amid showers of rice and good wishes. On their return they will reside in a home already prepared at No. 703 Girard avenue.

Mrs. Howser is a lovable young woman of many attractive qualities and moves in the younger social circles of the city. She is a member of the Entre Nous and several other social clubs.

Mr. Howser is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew H. Howser, of Franklin street, and commands the respect and esteem of a wide acquaintance. He is a member of the Tally Wag club, Masonic lodge and Marion Lodge, No. 402 Knights of Pythias. He is employed as a draughtsman by the Marion Steam Shovel company.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT OF BYRON EARL WILSON

Stung in the Right Eye While Driving an Auto.

THE PAIN IS TERRIBLE AND THE VICTIM FAINTS

S. K. Gorham Makes a Dash of Fifty Miles to Richmond, Indiana, Where Mr. Wilson Is Given Relief at a Hospital—Arrives Home on the Verge of Collapse.

Byron Earl Wilson, secretary and treasurer of the McMurray Sulky company, residing at No. 407 west Columbia street, had a terrible experience when returning home in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Sands K. Gorham from the big automobile races in Indianapolis. When driving the car fifty miles west of Richmond, Indiana, Mr. Wilson was stung in the right eye by what he thinks was a bee.

The eye became so swollen that it was closed almost instantly and the pain was so excruciating that Mr. Wilson fainted. Mr. Gorham, who had not run a car for two years, was compelled to take hold of the steering wheel and made a wild run to Richmond, covering the distance of fifty miles in just one hour.

At Richmond, Mr. Wilson was taken to a hospital, where he remained from Wednesday morning until Thursday morning. A nurse stood over him all of Wednesday night and bathed his eye and face with soothing bandages.

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. Wilson arrived home in his car, with Mr. and Mrs. Gorham, and went to bed. He was on the verge of collapse from the trying ordeal.

Mrs. Wilson and her mother, Mrs. Alice Tea, were greatly alarmed when Mr. Wilson did not come home Thursday morning. They were not informed at Mr. Wilson's request because he feared they would be unduly frightened.

ALVA EUSTICE SENEFF IS MARRIED FRIDAY

Elopes to Sandusky with Miss Elizabeth Scheider.

REV. MR. KASKE THE OFFICIATING MINISTER

Mr. and Mrs. Seneff Come to Marion Immediately After the Ceremony. Mr. Seneff Is a Valued Pitcher on the Staff of the Diggers—Surprise for Fans.

Alva Eustace Seneff, a pitcher on the local baseball team's staff, was one of the principals in an elopement which culminated in a marriage in Sandusky, last Friday.

Mr. Seneff, whose home is in Wakeman, met his bride, Miss Elizabeth Scheider, of Huron, in Sandusky Friday morning. They immediately secured a license and went to the home of Rev. Mr. Kaske who performed the ceremony. A short time later, the happy couple were on their way to Marion where the groom had an engagement at Webb park that afternoon.

The elopement is the culmination of a courtship which began when Seneff played amateur baseball in the vicinity of Sandusky. The bride is twenty-three years of age while the groom is only twenty-one.

Mr. Seneff is one of the most valued players on the local team and has been a general favorite with the fans here since he has been identified with the Diggers. His bride is a young woman of pleasing personality and will no doubt soon win many friends here.

The announcement of the marriage will come as a great surprise to a host of friends and baseball "bugs" throughout the entire Ohio State league.

DAVID S. JONES IS SUDDENLY SUMMONED

His Life Ended in Twinkling of an Eye.

FALLS TO DEATH AS HE GOES TO RETIRE

Had Almost Reached the Age of Seventy-Six and Had Been a Resident of Marion for Almost Sixty Years—A Son and Daughter Survive Him.

David S. Jones died very suddenly, at 9 o'clock Monday night, at the home of Mrs. George May, on east Church street, where he made his home. Death came without a suggestion of warning, except that Mr. Jones felt a slight attack of indigestion during the day. He spoke of the indisposition, but made a trip to Forest during the day, and was quite himself during the early hours of the evening. About 9 o'clock he spoke a good-night to Mrs. May, declaring he felt assured of a good, sound sleep. In less time than it takes to write it Mr. Jones fell heavily to the floor and never breathed again. The eternal sleep had come.

The first thought was that he had fallen in a swoon, or suffered a stroke of paralysis, and medical aid was hurriedly summoned, but death had come as Mr. Jones himself expected, in the suddenness of a moment.

Mr. Jones would have been seventy-six years old next Tuesday, having been born June 13, 1835. He was a native of the Western Reserve, and came from Portage county to Marion as a young man, and first engaged in teaching school. Later he gave his energies to contracting and building, and joined in numerous business ventures, one the establishment of a book shop, another the partnership that afterwards became the Huber company. Twenty-five years ago, or more, he joined the forces of the Huber company, became its field agent, and was actively engaged with the company, at the time of his death.

In April, 1860, Mr. Jones married Leonora M. Adams, one of the most prominent daughters of Marion of that day. Three children were born of the union—Mrs. George B. (Edith) Donavin, now residing at Columbus; Harry S., now a resident of Mobile, Alabama; and Frank, who died some years ago. Mrs. Jones died eighteen years ago.

Mrs. Donavin visited her father only last week, and reached his bier four hours after his sudden demise.

Mr. Jones was a life-long Mason, and a veteran of the Grand Army. His military services were given with the Tenth Ohio cavalry, as quartermaster sergeant, and covered about one year in the latter end of the war.

Few men in Marion were more delightful to their associates than Mr. Jones. He was much traveled, a keen observer and a wide reader, and these qualifications blended with his genial nature to make him a valued companion and friend. He worshipped at the Episcopal church.

Burial was made in Marion cemetery, at the side of the wife and son who preceeded him in death.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF CROPS AND STOCKS

Statement Compiled from Reports of Correspondents.

THE WHEAT PROSPECTS VERY DISCOURAGING

Wheat Shows the Effect of Long Continued Drouth—Production Is Estimated at but Eighty-Eight Per Cent. of a Normal Yield—The Oats Prospect Very Low.

The following report as to crops and stock is compiled from returns received from official correspondents of the Ohio department of agriculture:

Wheat, prospect compared with normal yield, 88 per cent.

Oats, prospect compared with normal yield, 76 per cent.

Rye, prospect compared with normal yield, 85 per cent.

Winter barley, prospect compared with normal yield, 86 per cent.

Spring barley, prospect compared with normal yield, 81 per cent.

Clover, prospect compared with normal yield, 70 per cent.

Timothy, prospect compared with normal yield, 68 per cent; damage by grub worm, 3 per cent.

Hogs, fed for summer markets, 55 per cent.; condition compared with an average, 94 per cent.

Spring pigs, number saved compared with an average, 90 per cent.

Sheep, condition compared with an average, 95 per cent.

Lambs, number saved compared with an average, 93 per cent.

Fruit, prospect compared with normal yield, 88 per cent.

Wheat shows the serious effect of the long-continued drouth, and the harvest prospect, as now estimated by the official correspondents of this department, is most discouraging. Based upon fifteen bushels an acre as a normal yield, represented in the report by 100 per cent., correspondents estimate that, in comparison with a normal yield, the production will be but eighty-eight per cent. The estimated area seeded to wheat last fall was 2,104,180 acres. From present prospect this should produce approximately 26,587,176 bushels. On the corresponding date one year ago, the estimated production was reported at 24,008,368 bushels. When the township assessors' reports are returned, no doubt they will show an increase in the estimated area now reported, but not enough to have any material effect on the state's production.

Oats prospects are reported at seventy-six per cent. compared with a normal production an acre, thirty bushels an acre being normal, represented by 100 per cent. in this report. The area seeded to oats for the present harvest is estimated at 1,357,224 acres. From the prospect now reported this should produce approximately 30,944,707 bushels. On the corresponding date last year the harvest production was estimated at 47,004,690 bushels. The oats crop generally is in poor condition, owing to drouth following seeding.

Fruit prospects are estimated at eighty-eight per cent. compared with a normal yield.

A COMPLICATED SUIT IN JUSTICE'S COURT

Matter of Clark W. Wright Against T. J. Horseman.

A forcible detention suit, which was tried in Justice Charles E. Gompf's court, Monday afternoon, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, Clark W. Wright, and against the defendant, Thomas J. Horseman, Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

This is an action which is complicated with the suit brought recently in the common pleas court by Mary J. Cowan and Clark W. Wright and E. B. Durfee, the defendants being charged with fraud in obtaining a deed to the property occupied by Mr. Horseman, on Girard avenue, south of Bellefontaine avenue. In this bill of particulars, Mr. Horseman claimed that Mr. Wright was not the owner of the property and that Mrs. Cowan was the rightful owner. Mrs. Cowan filed a motion, through Attorneys Eymon & Thompson, who also represented Horseman, to be made a party defendant. The justice overruled the motion, and decided that Horseman would have to surrender the property to Wright, who was represented by Attorneys Scofield & Durfee.

HIRAM O. ROWE TAKEN TO THE STATE HOSPITAL

Unfortunate Man Is Adjudged Insane, Monday Afternoon.

Hiram O. Rowe, twenty-four years old, married and the father of two small children, was adjudged insane by Probate Judge W. S. Spencer, Monday afternoon, and was taken to the asylum for the insane in Columbus by Deputy Sheriff Cornelius Breen, Tuesday morning.

Drs. H. L. Chler, of this city, and C. L. Baker, of Kirkpatrick, conducted the examination. The young man's mental condition is believed to be due to financial troubles. The affidavit of lunacy was filed by his brother, Pearl Rowe, of Kirkpatrick, formerly of Marion.

The unfortunate man, who made his home at Kirkpatrick, fancies that enemies are after him and his relatives feared he would commit suicide because he realizes his mental impairment at times.

THE COMMISSION SEES A MONUMENTAL TASK

Matter of Putting One-Per-Cent. Law in Operation.

A BIG JOB AND BUT LITTLE TIME TO DO IT

The Taxpayers of the County Are Showing a Great Deal of Interest in the Work of the Commission and Many Inquiries Are Coming to Hand—Public Hearings.

Members of Marion county's budget commission say they have a monumental task before them in putting the Smith one-per-cent.-tax law into operation.

The commissioners, who are Mayor John G. Selter, Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice and County Auditor Charles L. Allen, have until the first Monday in July to levy the tax for the forty-six taxing subdivisions of the county. The tax in no two of the districts likely will be the same.

Many inquiries are being made with reference to the work of the budget commission, showing that the taxpayers of the county are deeply interested.

The commission will receive budgets from the city, the county, the boards of education and the townships. These budgets will then be pared so that the total tax in any subdivision will not exceed one-per-cent. of the estimated tax duplicate, nor be more for any one branch of the goverment than that branch received in 1910.

The commission will hold public hearings for persons interested in the levies, and the public officials whose expenditures for next year are in contemplation, will be called into conference with the commissioners.

The personal tax duplicate may be materially boosted in order that as little hardship as possible will be caused.

By reason of the fact that the exact figures of the duplicate will not be known for some time, the work of the commissioners will be made more difficult. If, by chance, the tax levy should be too high, through a misconception of the size of the duplicate, injunctions may be brought to prevent the collection of the tax, so that the entire income of the local government might be shut off. This the commissioners are taking every precaution to avert.

FORMER MARION WOMAN MARRIED IN ST. LOUIS

Mrs. Luella I. Dowson Marries Mr. Levi Marquis.

Mrs. Luella Ingle Dowson, of this city, and Mr. Levi Marquis, of Peru, Indiana, were married in St. Louis, June 2.

The bride has many friends in this city having resided here her entire life. The groom, until a short time ago, was in the service of the Ackerman-Lowe Piano company. He is at present with the Jesse French Piano company of St. Louis, the largest piano store in that city.

Denies the Charge.

Albert Brickner, a local nurse, called at the Star office, Tuesday, and stated that the story appearing in the Delaware papers and reprinted by the Star to the effect that he was taken to a hospital from an interurban car and was found intoxicated instead of ill is not true. Brickner says he is a poor traveler and invariably suffers of car sickness when making a trip. He stated that he took a drink of whisky before boarding the car with a view to avoiding car sickness, but the drink failed of its purpose and when the physicians smelled whisky on his breath they jumped at the conclusion that he was drunk.

CRIMINAL OPERATION THE CAUSE OF DEATH

Mrs. Orison E. Creviston Dies of Lockjaw.

HER DEATH FOLLOWS TERRIBLE SUFFERING

Coroner States That a Local Physician Will Be Arrested If the Prosecutor Regards the Evidence Sufficient To Bring About a Conviction—The Funeral.

Lockjaw, superinduced by a criminal operation, caused the death of Mrs. Orison E. Creviston, twenty years old, a bride of less than two months, Saturday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. The arrest of a well known physician will probably follow.

Coroner W. H. Hinklin, assisted by Drs. C. T. Wiant, H. L. Chler and W. J. Weiser, at the request of the dead woman's brother, held an autopsy at the home of R. C. Creviston, of Sharpless court, father of the husband, Sunday night. Monday morning, he held an inquest and signed the death certificate to the effect that death was due to tetanus and the contributary cause was a criminal operation.

When seen Coroner Hinklin declared he would consult the prosecuting attorney and that the arrest of a Marion doctor would be made, if the prosecutor thought the evidence sufficient to convict.

Asked if the husband knew that the operation had been performed, the coroner declared:

"No; he did not learn of it until after it was done. His wife told him when her condition became serious."

Dr. Hinklin attached no blame to the husband, who is twenty-one years old and a carpenter by trade.

Mrs. Creviston was formerly Miss Grace E. Uncapher, the daughter of Francis M. Uncapher, of this city, and was married to Mr. Creviston, April 22, 1911. She is survived by her husband, her mother and several brothers and sisters. The mother lives on Tully street.

According to the death certificate, Mrs. Creviston was ill just three days. Her suffering during that time was indescribable.

Private funeral services were held at the late residence, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. George M. Rourke officiating.

Is Lodged in Jail.

Dr. William A. Charter, fifty-eight years old, was arrested and lodged in the county jail, shortly after 10 o'clock, Monday night, on a charge of performing the criminal operation which resulted in the death of Mrs. Orison F. Creviston, aged twenty years, who died of lockjaw at the home of her father-in-law, R. C. Creviston, of Sharpless court, late Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff John G. Stark made the arrest at Dr. Charter's home, No. 623 Cleveland avenue. The doctor had arrived home a short time before the sheriff came with the warrant and was sitting on the front porch with his shoes off.

The doctor made some reference to having read the story of Mrs. Creviston's death in the evening paper and appeared little surprised when the sheriff arrested him. His wife and daughter were in the house. They made no scene when the officer took the doctor away. He was unable to secure $2,000 bond, and was compelled to go to jail.

An affidavit, charging the doctor with committing the crime, was drawn by Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice and signed by the dead woman's husband.

Tuesday morning, John A. Charter, a barber, son of the prisoner, called on him at the jail. Monday night, Dr. Charter tried to retain two firms of well-known attorneys to defend him, but he was unsuccessful.

Dr. Charter has been a resident of Marion for nearly twenty years. He is a native of Richmond, Virginia, and a graduate of Washington university, in Baltimore, and has been practicing medicine since 1874.

Dr. Charter was arraigned before Justice Gompf, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. He pleaded not guilty, waived the preliminary examination and was held to the grand jury in the sum of $2,000. Unable to furnish bail, he was taken back to jail. He was not represented by an attorney when arraigned.

ANGRY DRIVERS ENTER PROTEST AGAINST ACT

Oberlander & Oberlander Obstruct the Caledonia Pike.

A lot of angry and mud-bespattered auto drivers and drivers of other vehicles using the Caledonia pike, Sunday, bore testimony to some very lurid opinions of the firm of Oberlander & Oberlander, which is doing the crushed stone work on that road east of the city. In the opinion of the drivers a steam roller, which could easily have been placed where the road allowed of its passage without difficulty or danger, was apparently planted in a studied position to force vehicles of every kind to descend into a mess of filth and mire to pass. The road was obstructed wholly without cause and at a point where no possible excuse could be offered for such obstruction.

ZION CITY MAY BE MODERNIZED

People May Be Allowed To Eat Pork and Oysters.

Springfield, Ill., June 6.—Zion City, founded by John Alexander Dowie, claiming to be the second Messiah, and noted for its "blue laws," may yet be modernized and its residents allowed to eat oysters, pork and perhaps indulge in tobacco.

The riots attending the last city election, in which an unsuccessful attempt was made to "modernize" the city, today caused mandamus proceedings to be filed in the Illinois supreme court by John Dow, asking that the "orthodox" mayor, E. N. Richey, be compelled to make the city officials properly canvass the election returns and see that the people really don't want pork and oysters.

HORSES SAVED; CHILDREN BURN

Father of Children Doesn't Know They Are in Fire.

St. Louis, Mo., June 6.—Unaware that two of his small children were in the loft of his burning barn, William Amptmann, a farmer residing in St. Charles county, rescued two horses and the children were cremated. Their bodies, charred to a crisp, were found in the ruins. A match lighted by the children is believed to have ignited the hay.

The father, working in a field a mile away, hurried to the burning barn and rescued the animals. He thought his children were at home with their mother.

The animal was captured in the cupola of a building.

THE SMALLEST STORE IN THE WORLD

New York, June 6.—Reduced figures spell success for "The Smallest Store in the World." Most of those who succeed in wedging themselves into the place to buy something, for once inside there is no room for argument. There are some persons of a sportive turn of mind who stand around in the neighborhood of the spot where they are told the establishment is and dare the proprietor to crawl out and sell them something. Once a citizen of ample girth was leaning up against the facade remarking that he had often heard of this microscopic mart, and would like to have a souvenir of it, when a spirit hand came from out of the mist, pinned a trinket on him and collected $10. The exact place is at No. 745 Sixth avenue, just above Forty-Second street—a tiny streak with glass over it. Its entire front is three feet in width, and the door is twenty inches across. Inside there is a passage way two feet in breadth between the wall and the vertical cases where the goods are displayed. Once this smallest of stores was rented by a tobacconist, but he was abliged to give up business because customers who bought cigars broke them against the opposite wall in trying to get out, and demanded new ones. It was impossible to light even a cigarette there without parting with the ashes before the street was gained.

What is believed to be the first fire insurance ever received by the municipality of Marion was paid to Charles M. Tobin, clerk of the public service director, Wednesday. The insurance, amounting to $63, was for the loss sustained by the city in the fire at the city building about two months ago, when the mayor and the police department were compelled to move.

A search of the records failed to disclose any item revealing the payment of insurance to the city as a result of any fire or fires in the past.

ORISON E. CREVISTON RELATES HIS STORY

Husband of Dead Woman Talks of Case.

AN EYEWITNESS TO CRIMINAL OPERATION

Testifies to Visits Made to the Office of Dr. William A. Charter, Who It Is Alleged Receives Thirteen Dollars for His Work—Charter Secures Firm of Attorneys.

An immunity bath promised Orison E. Creviston, husband of Grace Creviston, aged twenty, who died as a result of a criminal operation, induced him to tell all he knew about the crime to Coroner W. H. Hinklin and Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, who caused the arrest of Dr. William A. Charter, Tuesday night.

Wednesday Coroner Hinklin filed the report of his finding with County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter. After finding that Grace Creviston came to her death by lockjaw, superinduced by a criminal operation, the coroner gives the testimony of the husband.

Practically all of it is unfit for publication. The husband tells the story as an eyewitness. In his testimony he goes into harrowing details with a description that is repulsive.

According to Creviston, the husband, who is twenty-one years old, accompanied his wife to the office of Dr. Charter the evening of Saturday, May 21. He returned again with his wife the following Wednesday evening, when the operation is alleged to have been performed. He testifies that he paid the doctor $13.

Later, when his wife's condition became serious, Creviston says he went to Dr. Charter, who gave him some pills and stated that she would be all right. That was on June 2, according to the testimony. The next day his wife was dead.

The young husband also testifies as to visits made by Dr. Charter to his father's home on Sharpless court, where his wife was confined, and declares that the physician finally admitted to him that she had lockjaw. The doctor told Creviston that he, the husband, would have to stand the "brunt of it," Creviston says.

A brother of the dead woman demanded an investigation. Coroner Hinklin was called, and an inquest was held June 4.

Wednesday, the imprisoned physician retained as his attorneys DeGolley & DeGolley. Judge W. E. Scofield, Wednesday, reduced the doctor's bond from $2,000 to $1,000.

AGRICULTURE IN THE SCHOOLS OF COUNTY

Some Doubt as to the Meaning of the New Law

Agriculture will be taught in the rural schools of Marion county next year under the new law enacted by the legislature and many of the teachers in the rural schools are arranging to take special courses during the summer in order to be prepared to efficiently teach the subject

Whether the new law is meant to include any of the grades in the city schools is puzzling many of the taechers who have made application for copies of the law in order to be prepared in case it is required in any of the city schools Educators generally are not clear on the subject and an investigation will be made

When seen regarding the matter today Dr Henry A Hartman superintendent of the local schools stated that it had been his impression that agriculture would be taught only in the rural schools although he did not know positively

Whether the course is to be compulsory or selective is also unknown to the teachers

Militia Pay Bill

If the militia pay bill now before congress is passed it will mean much to the local militia men Under the conditions named in the bill the men will receive one dollar for each drill where now they receive twenty five cents Many of the men can not leave their work to attend drills for the amount paid and considerable difficulty is often experienced in getting the men to the armory It is very likely that the men interested in the bill will be passed

THE PRESIDENT AND ROOSEVELT ATTEND

Governor Crothers Presides at Exercises.

Special Guard of Police Cares for the Distinguished Visitors in Baltimore Today—Set of Engrossed Resolutons Is Presented to Cardinal by City Council—Red Flags, Gibbons' Colors, Displayed.

Baltimore, June 6.—With President Taft, former President Roosevelt, Vice President Sherman, Chief Justice White of the supreme court, Governor Crothers and hundreds of men prominent in every walk of life, present, the golden jubilee of Cardinal Gibbons was celebrated here today.

It was a dual observance, this being also the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of the guest of honor to the cardinalate. Governor Crothers presided at the exercises in the Fifth regiment armory. Addresses were made by the president, Colonel Roosevelt and Cardinal Gibbons.

The big raised platform, which seated 500 people, was decorated in red, the cardinal's color.

President Taft arrived in his special car this afternoon. Colonel Roosevelt came in a few hours ahead of the president, and went at once to the home of former Attorney General Charles J. Bonaparte, whose guest he will be. Neither the president nor his predecessor planned to remain in the city after the reception.

A special guard of police cared for the distinguished visitors. A feature of the reception was the presentation to the cardinal of a set of engrossed resolutions, prepared by the city council.

ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP ENGINE CREW

Two Armed Men Terrorize Crew Near Sandusky.

Sandusky, O., June 6.—Police of this and the other nearby cities are today seeking the two armed men who early today terrorized the engine crew of the westbound L. S. & M. S. Buffalo & Chicago fast train, No. 5, which they tried to hold up between Elyria and Sandusky and then gave battle here to Patrolman Ringholz and escaped.

Riding on top of the first express car they defied members of the crew and fired three shots at the men in the engine cab. When the train reached Sandusky at 12:30 a. m. for its first stop, Patrolman Ringholz alone braved the defiant gun-wielders, who fired one shot at him, but missed him. As he mounted the ladder at the side of the car they stood near him and threatened to shoot to kill. As he continued after them the fellows leaped from the top of the car and escaped in the railroad yards.

HIS CONFESSION STIRS CHICAGO

Wealthy Manufacturer Tells of the "Fire Ring."

IS ARRESTED AND THEN ENDS LIFE

Prominent Business Men To Be Arrested.

After Having Several Mysterious Fires in His Stores and Plant, the Police Arrest Wealthy Man, Who, When Grilled, Confesses and Tells How "Fire Ring" Members Are Hired To Fire Buildings.

Chicago, June 6.—After confessing that he had employed members of the "fire ring" to set fire to his place of business, Leopold Dreyfuss, wealthy manufacturing tailor, went to his home on Michigan avenue early today and sent a bullet through his brain. His confession, the police say, will lead to the arrest of the "fire ring," and to the conviction of a number of business men who have at various times employed this gang of firebugs.

Dreyfuss owned a big tailoring plant on south Market street, and conducted clothing stores in Chicago to dispose of his product.

Six months ago there was a fire in one of his stores in north Chicago and a loss of $12,000 was paid by the insurance companies. The circumstances were suspicious, but there was not sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest.

Sunday night fire was discovered in Dreyfuss' manufacturing plant. It was extinguished with a $12,000 loss. The fire was so suspicious that Dreyfuss was arrested last night.

Fire Ring Secrets.

Fire Attorney Sullivan, in charge of firebug cases for the police, grilled Dreyfuss and at 2 o'clock this morning the wealthy manufacturer confessed, Sullivan said.

Dreyfuss is quoted by Sullivan as saying that the "fire ring" was well known among business men and its services easy to secure. He had no trouble in getting them to agree to fire his building, paying them $500 in cash and promising $1,500 more when insurance was collected. Dreyfuss furnished the names of the members of the firebug band and gave the names of several prominent merchants who had employed them.

Dreyfuss was allowed to go home, accompanied by a detective. The detective retired to a room next to that of Dreyfuss. A few hours later he heard a revolver shot and rushed into Dreyfuss' room to find him dead on the floor.

According to a statement made this afternoon by Fire Chief Sullivan, the denouement that will follow the death of Dreyfuss will be startling. It is said confessions that have been secured show that Dreyfuss not only profited by the burning of his own stores, but was in league with the "fire ring," acting as their confidential agent. Whenever the "fire ring" secured a prospective "customer" whose place of business was to be burned, Dreyfuss furnished a false certificate of sale showing that he had "sold" a large bill of goods to the firm that was to burn. Showing these certificates of sale after the fires, the "victims" usually collected large sums from insurance companies and paid Dreyfuss a commission.

Underwood Presents Report on Tariff Plan.

THE PRESIDENT IS CRITICIZED

The Cloth Makers Will Suffer, Says Report.

The Report Defends Departure from Democratic Principles of "Free Raw Materials," Declares Caucus Is Supreme and the House Simply a Week Echo—Nick Longworth Signs with Others.

Washington, June 6.—Criticism of President Taft and denunciation of the Republican tariff plan, were contained in the report on the wool revision bill, presented today to the house by Representative Underwood, Democrat, of Alabama, on behalf of the Democratic majority in the committee.

The report calls attention to the fact that information asked from the tariff board by Underwood was refused because the board had not completed its investigation.

"The position of the board," the report says, "appears to be that it, under the sole control of the president, shall be the sole judge as to what part of the data it collects may be likely to be of service for purposes of explanation and this situation must be considered with reference to the viewpoint of the president concerning tariff legislation.

"It is therefore not important that there may be some delay in the communication to the congress of statistical data collected by the tariff board concerning wool and woolen goods, as there has been in communicating to congress or making public the data collected by the bureau of corporations concerning investigations of the steel and other industries."

Many Will Suffer.

The report defends the departure from the Democratic principles of "free raw materials" contained by the twenty per cent. duty on raw wool, as demanded in order to replenish revenues depleted "by a long course of Republican extravagance."

Utter ruin for wool farmers, wool manufacturers and cloth makers as a result of enactment of the bill was forecasted by the Republican members of the committee in the report.

"What wool comes in under this bill will come as cloth," the report says. "The mills here in most lines must soon close and the farmer, unable to find market for his wool, must destroy his flocks. For purely political reasons this cold-blooded measure is brought forward."

After commenting on the fact that the Democrats are doing everything through the caucus the report said:

"The caucus seems to be the only body doing any legislation at this time. The caucus edict has gone forth that no amendment will be allowed in the house. The caucus is supreme; the house is its weak echo."

The minority report is signed by Representative Payne, Republican, of New York; Dalzell, Republican, of Pennsylvania; Needham, Republican, of California; and Longworth, Republican, of Ohio.

To Be No Probe.

Washington, June 6.—There will be no investigation of the American Woolen company of Boston, the "wool trust," by the Democratic house until the Underwood revision of the wool schedule of the tariff has been passed. This program was decided upon after a consultation between the Democratic leaders and Reprefor the wool investigation.

JACK JOHNSON BIGGEST CARD

Sails Away To Attend George's Coronation.

FLOWERS AND FRUIT ADORN JACK'S SUITE

He Thinks King Will Want To See Him.

Negro Champion Declares He Expects Lord Lonsdale To Meet Him at Pier When He Lands in "Merry Old England"—Jack Holds an Informal Reception Aboard Big Liner Before Sailing Today.

New York, June 6.—Talk about drawing the color line against Jack Johnson aboard the Kron Prinz Wilhelm! Why the 'big smoke" was the biggest card aboard the vessel today, when she poked her nose out into the bay and headed for "Merry Old England."

"Where's Johnson?" every one was asking, and the popularity of the negro champion soon became so infectious that for a half hour before the ship sailed, he and his wife held an informal reception in the chief engineer's suite, which Johnson engaged for the trip.

Johnson went immediately to his rooms on boarding the ship. He wore a brown suit, tan shoes and stockings and for jewelry he relied chiefly on the three-quarter inch diamond that glinted from his shirt front.

Mrs. Johnson's display of stones and gold was not so modest. She was sprinkled with all sorts of flashers and her fingers were encumbered almost to the point of being out of commission.

Among those who went aboard ship to wish Johnson bon voyage were only two negroes.

Boxes of candy, baskets of fruit and huge bouquets adorned Johnson's suite, no international bride ever sailing with more extravagant remembrances in these lines.

King George Anxious.

Johnson has not requested an audience with King George.

"I don't think that will be necessary," Jack said. "The king will probably want to see me and if he does, I'll sure be on hand. I'll always break a date to see a king."

"Will you fight Bombardier Wells?" Johnson was asked.

"Course I will. I'll fight any one in the world. But there's got to be money in it. I'm going to Monte Carlo and if I go broke down there, I may agree to fight Wells for a small amount. But I won't fight on this trip. I've got to be back here for an engagement at Hammerstein's in August. I think Lord Lonsdale will meet me at the pier. He's a great sport and has done more for boxing than anybody in England."

Johnson's party consists of his wife, Monte Cutler, a negro sparring partner; Jim Monahan, his white sparring partner; Tom Flanagan, his trainer, and Charles Brown, his chauffeur. All went first cabin. Johnson is taking two automobiles over and expects to cut a swath just a bit wider than ever before cut by an American champion abroad.

PRESIDENT SCORES COLONEL GARRARD

Takes Up Document of "Unfounded and Narrow Race Prejudice."

Washington, June 6.—Severely scoring Colonel Joseph Garrard, in command of Fort Myer, Virginia, for giving evidence in an official document as "unfounded and narrow race prejudice," President Taft, yesterday, ordered a special examination for the son of Joseph A. Bloom, a Jewish tailor, at Fort Myer, who aspires to become a lieutenant in the army.

In correspondence made public today, Colonel Garrard said that the youth had fine personal qualities, but added: "I would not desire him in my command as an officer and a social and personal associate. The presence of the applicant's family at a military post would be subversive of discipline and their probable treatment a source of mortification to them. I have found few communities where Jews are received as desirable social associates."

In a letter to the secretary of war, Taft said in part:

"It is difficult to read the endorsement of Colonel Garrard with patience. The statements made by Colonel Garrard are not true with reference to the standing that Jews have in this country and I request as commander-in-chief of the army and navy that no officer of either should permit himself in an official document to give evidence of such unfounded and narrow race prejudice."

The president ordered Garrard reprimanded.

ONE LONE DIME IS FOUND IN STRONG-BOX

Safe of Tulsa, Oklahoma, Bank, Is Opened Today.

Plainfield, N. J., June 6.—After a month of work, first by an expert in the Farmers' State bank of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and later by other experts in the big safe factory here, a strong-box supposed to contain $25,000 was opened in this city. A lone dime was all the steel chest contained.

The safe was one used by L. R. Tubner, cashier of the Tulsa bank. When he killed himself some weeks ago in Florida, J. D. Langford, president of the bank, tried to open the safe. The combination had been changed and he sent to the factory here for an expert, who also failed, so the safe was shipped here. The hinges were ground off and the combination lock was sawed out so that the bolts could be reached.

Taken to Infirmary.

Hugh Gillespie, who had a part of his left foot cut off by a train near the Union Depot eating house, Tuesday night, was removed from a local hospital to the Marion County infirmary Tuesday.

STEEL TRUST PROBERS BUSY

Return to Attack on Judge Gary Today.

ATTORNEY GENERAL SHOWING HIS HAND

Stanley Takes Optimistic View of Situation.

Declares He Has Abiding Faith That Department of Justice Will Discover Violations of Laws Other Than Anti-Trust Law—Representative Littleton Cross-Examines Judge Gary.

Washington, June 7.—Charging that the United States Steel corporation is negotiating a practical monopoly of the coking coal of the Pittsburg coal field, Robert C. Hall, a Pittsburg stock broker, today interrupted the testimony of Judge E. H. Gary, executive head of the United States Steel corporation, and astounded the Stanley steel investigating committee by quoting Senator Oliver, of Pennsylvania, as one authority for his charges.

Stanley opened the hearing by questioning Gary as to a recently published report of the sale of 17,000 acres of coal in the Pittsburg field for the Pittsburg Coal company, and the Monongahela Consolidated Coal & Coke company. Gary admitted that the sale was practically completed. He declared, however, that there was a great deal of coal outside of the steel corporation's holdings.

Stanley elicited that the steel trust owns 60,000 acres of coal in the Connellsville field, and that only 38,000 acres are owned by independents. The corporation also holds under lease 50,000 acres in the Pocahontas coal fields.

Under a fire of questions, Gary outlined the contract by which the Pittsburg Coal company, and the Monongahela company, which is controlled by the Pittsburg concern, agreed to furnish a great part of their output to the steel corporation.

"Isn't it true," demanded Stanley, "that you are now preparing to gain control of these two companies?"

"No," returned Gary, "there is no danger of their going into the United States Steel corporation. There are hundreds of thousands of tons of coal in that field under the control of these companies."

Then Stanley unloosened his sensation.

Gary Surprised.

"The statement has been made by a senator of the United States," Stanley said, "who has a personal interest in the matter, that the Pittsburg Coal company now controls the Monongahela company; that there is now a scheme on foot to exchange the stock of these companies for bonds of the United States Steel corporation with the inevitable result that the Ohio river will cease to become a medium of that great coal traffic, through the Middle West; and that this coal will be moved by rail to supply the United States Steel corporation furnaces at Gary, Indiana, in conjunction with the inferior coal of the southern Illinois fields."

Gary was slightly ruffled.

"That senator is certainly laboring in error," Gary said, controlling himself with an effort.

Representatives Gardner and Young clamored loudly for the name of the senator, which Stanley declined to furnish.

"Senator Oliver is interested in those companies," volunteered Gary.

"Well, I'll put the name in the record," said Stanley. "Mr. Hall, you will be sworn."

Robert C. Hall, of Pittsburg, was sworn while the committee and spectators gazed astounded.

Hall outlined the financial conditions of the two companies, indicating that the Monongahela was under the control of the Pittsburg concern.

"I have been told by Senator Oliver," Hall said, "that these companies are to be taken over by the steel corporation. Their stock is to be exchanged for bonds issued on the coal sold and guaranteed by the steel corporation. These companies are now furnishing coal to the steel corporation at one dollar and $1.07 a ton. The coal costs $1.24 a ton."

But this scheme will not mean ownership by the steel corporation," interposed Representative Gardner.

"No, but the control will be better than ownership, for they will get this coal cheaper than they could mine it themselves."

Gary Under Fire.

Washington, June 7.—Jubilant over the determination of the administration through the department of justice, to prosecute the steel trust, the Stanley steel trust investigating committee of the house today returned to the attack on Judge Elbert H. Gary, head of the big steel combine convinced that it had forced the hand of the attorney general. Chairman Stanley took the attitude that he had at last forced the department of justice to recognize the truth of the fight he has made for several years. Stanley said today: "I have an abiding faith that the department of justice will discover violations of laws other than the anti-trust law. I respectfully invite the attention of the department to the freight charges over the lines controlled by the steel trust from the Mesaba and other Superior ore ranges to the lakes. I also invite the department's attention to the terminal charges and other agreements made between the United States Steel corporation and other common carriers."

Stanley's View.

Stanley issued a statement in which he reviewed "numerous efforts made to secure the information in the hands of the department of justice and the bureau of corporations," and concluded:

"I am delighted to know that whatever the 'reasons of state' that prevented the publication of this information were, they no longer exist, and that congress is at last to be furnished the information which has so long been refused; that the department of justice and the bureau of corporations are at last ready to take us into their confidence and that the courts of justice will at least deal with the United States Steel corporation as with similar and infinitely smaller concerns."

Stanley today turned Judge Gary over to Representative Martin W. Littleton, Democrat, of New York, for cross-examination on the intricacies of the trust financial situation.

RUSSIAN IS ACCUSED OF MANY MURDERS

MADERO SLIPS INTO CAPITAL

Diaz Nears Europe as Conqueror Enters.

GIRLS STREW REBEL'S PATH WITH FLOWERS

Mexican Bands Play and Guns Boom.

Thirty-Four Years After the Insurgent Diaz Marches into Mexico City at Head of Victorious Army, Francisco Madero Rides into Same City in a Pullman, Ready To Take Up Reins Laid Down by Diaz.

Mexico City, June 7.—Thirty-four years, six months and eight days after the insurrecto, Porfirio Diaz, marched into Mexico City at the head of a victorious army, Francisco I. Madero, the new insurrecto, today slipped into the same capital on a Pullman, ready to try his hands at running government after Diaz had failed in his effort to make a genuine democracy out of the Mexican republic.

Accompanying Madero's two trains during the last eighteen hours of the trip were six special trains bearing capitalists, business men and huge bands from this city. Madero's first taste of what awaited him in the capital came at Gelaya, 200 miles from the capital. In the garden of the home of Eusebio Gonzales, a multi-millionaire Mexican, a Gargantuan banquet was served while bands played and girls strewed flowers.

During the night Madero's train "loafed" towards its destination and Madero had several conferences with his advisers and with the entertainment committees which met his train. He urged them that the welcome here be made simple, seeking to avoid the accusation that he is more powerful than Provisional President De La Barra.

This afternoon, Madero will probably review the troops, when he hopes to win the soldiers over to his side and heal all the wounds left by the late campaigns.

Elaborate Decorations.

The decorations which greeted the Madero party on its arrival here were the most elaborate in the history of the Mexican capital. Triumphal arches were everywhere in the streets.

As the Madero party advanced through the crowded streets, thousands of school children sang the national anthem, while flowers were tossed in the streets alike by society women and by peons. It is estimated that 300,000 persons crowded into Avenida Juarez, the principal thoroughfare, to await Madero's coming, while 100,000 more gathered at the two railroad stations, because the point of entry into the city was not made public.

Despite Madero's sense of security and the tremendous popular enthusiasm with which he was received, his insurgent friends decided to take no chances and the guards about him were quadrupled as soon as he reached the capital.

After the formal ceremonies of welcome, Madero and his wife were escorted to the home of his father, on Beilen avenue, where they will remain indefinitely.

A little soap or black lead rubbed on the hinge of a squeaking door will often remedy matters.

REPORTS ARE CONTRADICTED

No Assurance of Roosevelt Supporting Taft.

FRIENDS OF BOTH DENY ANY PLEDGE

Declare Politics Not Discussed in Baltimore.

Though a Warm Personal Friendship Exists Between President and His Predecessor, No Intimation Has Been Made by Either as to Support in Campaign for the Presidency in 1912.

Washington, June 7.—The following signed statement by Colonel Roosevelt was telegraphed to the United Press today in response to an inquiry:

[BY THEODORE ROOSEELT.]

The statement that I have pledged myself to any one for the nomination is absolutely false. I have neither done so nor even discussed doing so. The story is made out of whole cloth.

No Pledge Made.

Washington, June 7.—Though warm personal friendship exists, neither President Taft nor any of his friends has any direct pledge from Colonel Roosevelt that he will support Taft for the Republican nomination for president in 1912.

The former president and the chief executive did not discuss politics in any form at their meeting at Baltimore yesterday.

These two positive statements were made today to the United Press on the highest authority, in contradiction of the report to the effect that Taft would have Roosevelt's support in 1912, which was sent over the wires during the night, as detailed elsewhere in these despatches.

The deduction from the long personal friendship of the two men, the warmth of their greetings yesterday, and the fact, just disclosed today, that the former president, on frequent occasions, has written to Taft expressing emphatic approval of certain of his official acts—such as the appointment of Justice White to be chief justice and the policy in regard to Major General Leonard Wood—led friends of the chief executive to believe that the colonel was pledged to his former secretary of war as the Republican candidate in 1912.

From a high source, it was learned definitely today, however, that Colonel Roosevelt has in no way intimated his acceptance of any such position.

Roosevelt's friends—even those of the most radical progressives—have long been acquainted with the colonel's determination to support the Republican nominee for president in 1912. Since President Taft is regarded as being the foremost candidate for the nomination and, according to the belief of his friends, the undoubted selection, this attitude of Roosevelt has been developed by some of them into a promise of support for the nomination.

Roosevelt's insurgent friends here admitted, today, that the colonel was absolutely convinced that he should remain "regular" to the extent of supporting the candidate selected by the Republican convention. They say this has always been his policy.

The anti-Taft branch of the party, represented by the Progressive Republican league, however, denies that Taft's friends are in the slightest degree justified in the assumption that Roosevelt will support Taft before the convention. They take no exception to the statement that the colonel will be for the party nominee.

A statement that Secretary of the Navy Meyer brought to Taft from Oyster Bay definite assurance that Roosevelt would support Taft for the nomination was officially denied. It is asserted on the highest authority that Meyer brought no such message. He did bring a warm personal greeting, however.

The anti-Taft men claim that the fight will be in the convention and that they have no idea that Roosevelt would be willing to support a third party nominee under any circumstances.

The Taft organization, on the other hand, expresses the belief that his renomination is an absolute certainty, and on that hypothesis claimed the support of Roosevelt.

Colonel Denies Story.

New Haven, Conn., June 7.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt this afternoon denied that he was the source of the story, published this morning, that President Tart could count on his cooperation in the next convention. Interviewed on a New Haven train enroute to Boston, Colonel Roosevelt stated that promises of his personal support had to come from himself. "I have made none," he said.

It is thought that a car on an eastbound train jumped the tracks and stopping, was crashed into by a westbound, throwing the wreckage onto track No. 3, into which the other trains crashed.

DOES CHURCH HELP GIRLS?

Cause of Waywardness Is Explained by Physicians.

AN INVESTIGATION MADE IN GOTHAM

Feeble-Minded Girls Easily Led Astray.

Report Shows That Sort of Girls Are More Readily Deceived by That Show of Affection Which Takes All a Woman Can Give and in Return Gives Disgrace—Less Able To Discriminate.

New York, June 7.—That a majority of the wayward girls in the United States are feeble-minded and should be cared for in scientifically-managed institutions, is the substance of a report made by medical experts to the Church Mission of Help, today. The investigation was started to determine whether the church had failed in preventing waywardness in young girls. Of 113 cases examined, fifty-eight were subnormal mentally and should have been members of institutions. Speaking of this, the report says:

"These defective girls are allowed to be at large because the state institutions for the feeble-minded are too crowded to admit them."

There are 2,000 girls on the waiting list of the State Charities Aid association. Discussing the girls the report says:

"The human craving for affection must find outlet. The more subnormal a girl is mentally, the less able she is to discriminate between the true and the false. The feeble-minded, or low-grade imbecile is pathetically affectionate and dependent and the more nearly a girl's mental condition approaches this, the more readily is she deceived by that show of affection which takes all that a woman can give and in return gives disgrace."

MANY LOST IN VESSEL WRECK

Breakers Are Mistaken for School of Sardines.

HEAVY SEA SWAMPS A BIG LIFE BOAT

Disaster Occurs Off the Coast of Los Santas.

Confusion on Board Steamer Is Increased by Bellowing of Cattle. Eighty Passengers Saved, Some Floating Ashore on Trunks and Others on Backs of Steers—Captain of Ship Arrested.

Colon, R. P., June 7.—The vessel Taboga ran upon the dangerous point of Cuanico, off the coast of Los Santos, and as a result 23 lives were lost. The accident is said to be due to the fact that he breakers ahead were mistaken for a school of sardines. Pilot Matthews and Captain Campbell were arrested and are held incommunicado here. Officers of the steamer David, which has arrived here, bring details of the disaster. Eighty survivors were aboard the vessel.

The Tabago was of 500 tons burden and belonged to the National Navigation company of Panama. The company receives a subsidy from the government for carrying the mails, and usually its ships are crowded with passengers and heavily freighted. There are no lighthouses along this part of the Pacific coast with the exception of those at the entrance to the canal zone.

Captain Campbell, an Englishman, seemed to have ordered Pilot Matthews to change his course. The latter obeyed, and shortly afterward Prospero Pinal, one of the owners of the vessel, approached and made the unheeded remark about a rocky coast ahead.

During the argument as to whether the disturbance came from breakers or from a school of sardines, the Tabago struck. The reef tore a great hole in the ship's bow. As the water rushed in the captain ordered women and children to assemble in the main dining salon. Then the steamer headed for shore. The headway was slow and the confusion increased. The shouts of the 120 passengers were augmented by cries of terror from hundreds of cattle and hogs aboard.

Sea Swamps Boat.

Several lifeboats were launched in safety. Then the ship's largest boat was swung out and rapidly filled with women and children. A heavy sea slapped against it and a rush of maddened steers crushed the davits. Only two in the boat were saved. The second engineer, a Scotchman named Privanchi, and a Cuban cigar manufacturer of Colon, Gregiore, could not swim, but remained aboard helping the passengers into the boats. Both drowned.

There are said not to have been enough boats to accommodate passengers and crew, and several of the survivors made their way ashore upon boards and trunks.

Two passengers mounted upon the backs of bullocks, which bore them through a heavy sea to the coast and safety. According to a brother of one of the persons drowned there were but three life preservers aboard the ship.

The most of the dead were members of the leading families of the interior, the large number of children being due to the fact that the youngsters were en route to Panama to be placed in care of relatives. No Americans were lost.

The sinking of the ship caused a storm of indignation here, and the arrests of the two officers mentioned followed immediately upon the arrival of the David. None of the owners of the ship have been arrested.

KIDNAPED CHILD IS RECOVERED

Pittsburg Kidnapers Victims of Mistaken Identity.

Pittsburg, June 7.—Kidnapers seeking the 3-year-old grandson of D. M. Clemson, one of Pittsburg's millionaires, secured the little son of the Clemson family chauffeur by mistake and the police are now seeking the bungling abductors.

The child taken by mistake was found wandering miles from the Clemson home, where it had been abandoned after the kidnapers discovered their mistake.

Mrs. D. M. Clemson had taken a fancy to the little son of the chauffeur and had provided it with child's clothing of the finest textures. Consequently the little fellow looked the part of the Clemson heir.

CATHOLIC PRESIDENT AMONG PREDICTIONS

Roosevelt Talks for Religious Freedom in Baltimore.

Baltimore, June 7.—With President Taft, Former President Roosevelt, Vice President Sherman, Chief Justice White of the supreme court, Governor Crothers and hundreds of men prominent in every walk of life present, the golden jubilee of Cardinal James Gibbons was celebrated here. It was a dual observance, this being also the twenty-fifth anniversary of the elevation of the guest of honor to the cardinalate.

Of the speeches made those of the president and Colonel Roosevelt, next to that of the cardinal, commanded the greatest attention, and both dealt with religious liberty and toleration. The former president made a decided hit and was cheered again and again when, in the course of his address, he said the time would come when there would be Catholic presidents as well as Protestants and Jews would be presidents as well as Gentiles. All the speeches were complimentary in the highest degree to the cardinal.

Turns State's Evidence.

Mt. Vernon, O., June 7.—David Mackey turned state's evidence in the case of Ohio against M. T. Lee, charged with manslaughter, and offered damaging evidence against Lee, who is charged with killing Charles Metcalf. Curtis Howard, a professor at O. S. U., testified that he made an analysis of a bottle of whisky which was found at the side of the dead body of Metcalf, and found the whisky contained ether.

WETS AND DRYS NOW INVOLVED

Their Fights Figure in Evans' Disclosures.

SENSATIONS MAY BE SPRUNG SOON

Solons Heretofore Unsuspected Drawn In.

Subpoenas Are Issued for Six More Witnesses in Bribery Cases—Supposed They Are Called To Corroborate Testimony Given by Evans—Prosecutor Refuses To Discuss Grand Jury Report.

Columbus, O., June 7.—The grand jury continued its investigation into the Carl Sanborn murder case this morning, when it reconvened. Prosecutor Turner expected that the entire day would be occupied with police court cases, but intimated that they would switch back to the legislative probe tomorrow.

After being grilled for a day and a half, Representative Owen J. Evans left for his home in Canton last night. Prosecutor Turner will recommend to Judge Kinkead, today, that the other two indictments pending against him be nollied.

Evans will return to Columbus to give further testimony at any time the state wishes.

That Evans' disclosures have involved several men who had heretofore not been suspected of being involved in the alleged graft transactions, is a certainty. Much of Evans' story to the grand jury was in connection with the bitter "wet" and "dry" fight, while the optometry and salary loan bills were also brought into the discussion.

Prosecutor Turner refused to say whether the grand jury would make a report today. It is not looked for until tomorrow or possibly Friday.

Subpoenas were issued, this morning, for half a dozen witnesses more in the bribery cases to appear before the grand jury Friday. Most of them are from out of town. It is supposed they are called to corroborate Evans' testimony.

TAKE UP ONE-CENT LETTER POSTAGE SOON

Taft and Hitchcock Will Consider Matter.

Cleveland, June 6.—That definite assurances have been given him by both President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock that the question of one-cent letter postage will be presented to the next session of congress, is the announcement, today, of President C. W. Burrows of the National One-Cent Postage association.

Burrows, who has just returned from Washington, was given to understand, however, that Taft and Hitchcock would also renew the fight for a higher rate on magazines.

A SLEEP WALKER FALLS TO DEATH

Climbs to Fourth Story of Building and Falls.

San Francisco, June 6.—After several hours of sleep-walking, William Meyers, thirty, is dead today as the result of a fall from the fourth story of an unfinished building.

Myers, clad only in his pajamas, appeared at the saloon where he was employed as a porter. He polished the bar, swept the floor and shined all the glass without waking up. A policeman saw Meyers climb into an unfinished building and followed. Meyers climbed up to the fourth story, turned suddenly, walked out through a window hole and fell to the pavement.

WIDOW MAY BREAK WILL

Tom L. Johnson's Wife Plans a Fight.

BRINGS SUIT AGAINST BIG TRUST COMPANY

Widow Seeks Securities in the Bank's Vault.

Refusal of Mercantile Trust Company, of New York, To Give Late Cleveland Mayor's Wife Access to Funds of Husband Leads to Suit for $250,000 Damages—Children To Join Mother in Fight.

Cleveland, June 7.—A fight by the widow and the children to break the will of the late Tom L. Johnson is to be made in court, according to the announcement of close friends of the family today.

The first step was taken, today, when Mrs. Margaret J. Johnsonn, the widow, brought a $250,000 damage suit against the Mercantile Safe Deposit company in New York for refusing her access to a safety deposit box said to contain $195,000 in cash and securities left by the former Cleveland mayor. All of Johnson's property, which it is estimated will aggregate $300,000, was left in trust for his three grandchildren, Margaret Evelyn Mariani and Loftin and Richard Johnson. Mrs. Johnson, it is stated, will be joined by her two children, Mrs. Bessie Mariani and Loftin Johnson in the effort to break the will.

The refusal of the Mercantile company to give Mrs. Johnson access to the funds is stated to have been due to the fact that when they were deposited by her husband, the company was notified that they were to be held subject to the three trustees who are to hold the estate in trust for the grandchildren.

The Bank's Stand.

New York, June 7.—Suit for $250,000 damages has been filed in the supreme court by Mrs. Margaret J. Johnson, widow of Tom L. Johnson, against the Mercantile Safe Deposit company. Mrs. Johnson alleges she has in one of the company's safe deposit boxes cash and securities worth more than $190,000, and that, May 16, when she sought to obtain entrance to the box, the company refused to allow her to do so, giving as its reason, "the necessity of protecting itself against possible liability to certain reputable persons, who, it is asserted, had claimed ownership of the contents of said safe, and had notified it not to deliver said contents to this plaintiff."

William Giblin, president of the Mercantile Safe Deposit company, refused to give the names of the persons who are asserted to claim ownership of the securities in Mrs. Johnson's box. Mrs. Johnson's counsel, who filed the petition, would likewise give out nothing.

DISASTROUS FIRE HITS LOWELLVILLE

More Than Thirty Families Watch Homes Burn.

Lowellville, O., June 7.—Fire and dynamite razed an entire square here, today, while more than thirty families watched the destruction of their homes. When the fire broke out in V. Di Oto's saloon, on Washington street, at an hour before midnight, the whole square was aroused. Within ten minutes the flames had leaped across the street before a west wind and had communicated to the first house.

The village fire department was handicapped with inadequate equipment and the village authorities resorted to dynamite to halt the fire. They blew up four houses.

One detachment of firemen, led by Ex-Mayor Varley, was back of a house, unaware that a charge of dynamite had been put under it. When the blast came, the debris was blown on them, but they escaped serious injury.

An appeal to the Youngstown fire department brought apparatus and firemen on a special train and the fire was finally controlled.

The loss is $75,000.

TURKISH BANDITS DEMAND RANSOM

Professor Richter, German Explorer, Held on Border.

Salonika, June 6.—A $75,000 ransom was demanded, today, by the Turkish bandits who last week kidnaped Professor Richter, the German explorer, and are now holding him on Mt Olympus, on the Thessaly border.

With the demand came a letter written by Richter, in which he implores either the Turkish government or his friends to meet the bandits' demands. The Turkish troops have advised against paying any ransom. They are trying to force the inhabitants at the foot of Mt. Olympus to reveal the hiding place of the bandits and are subjecting them to the cruellest tortures.

The professor's friends have begun raising funds for his ransom.
